COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

I see that AEP electric wants to raise my rates 15% each year for the next 3 yrs. How do they expect people to keep coming up with more money every year when people are just scraping by. I went to all energy efficient light bulbs to help cut back on my expenses and now they want to penalize me for that. Are they doing their part as far as trimming the fat within their company? Are the CEO'S still getting their huge bonuses? I'm tired of the utility companies always passing the buck to the customer and think they need to bite the bullet and make due with what they're making. I've had to take pay cuts at my job just to hope to keep a job. So i hope you take it into real consideration before you let them take more food out of my families mouth. Thank you.
