Docketing Case # 09-580-EL-EEC

First Energy wants to pass the cost of their failed light bulb program on to the consumers. I say NO. Let them deduct the cost from the dividends that are paid to their stockholders. I'm sure they can find a retailer such as Walmart that would purchase the bulbs they have in their warehouse. At least they will recover some of their expenses by doing so, even if they sell the bulbs for less than what they paid.

Please docket the attached in the case number above.
