RECEIVED-DOCKETING DIV 261UMAR -9 AM II: 10 PUCO

Docketing Case No.: 10-0176-EL-ATA

Notes: We have a question regarding how yesterday's ruling by PUCO will affect our rates for our all-electric home. In Dec. 2007 we bought this all-electric home and sold my all-electric home that I was getting an allelectric discount on. We were told that there would be no all-electric discount given on our new home, which is 15 years old. It is obvious from our KWH usage that we are all-electric and heat our home with electricity. Even though we were not receiving an all-electric discount, we had called several times to request one. We also saw a large jump in our electric bill the last few months. We want the same all-electric discount that others will now receive. Will we get one even though we were never credited with having an ell-electric home? What can we expect to see on our next bill as far as cents paid per KWH?
