Notes: I moved to my house in April 2009 and have seen my electrical bills just sky rocket. I can't keep up with the electric bills. In your March 3, 2010 decision for First Energy, you decided to give relief to those people who bought a house before January 1, 2007. By doing this, you excluded people like myself with all electric houses. If the Governor and Senators feel this is too much of a burden on homeowners with all electric houses, why do you think it is not equally a burden on me, and just because I didn't have the foresight to see all of this coming and buy this house before January 1, 2007. For such drastic action to be taken by you for First Energy to revise their rates to give relief, means something, and now it means people like myself have to make decisions between paying the electric bill, turning the heat down to 52 degrees and watching my child shiver in the cold and putting food on the table. Other all electric homeowners are feeling the same amount of pain and we need relief.
