Docketing Case No.:10-176-el-ata

Notes:

Please file in the docket for case # 10-176 for the all-electric case. My wife and I purchased an all-electric home in January 2007 . I understand that the all-electric discount was discontinued at this time except for those grandfathered in. Why were those of us that purchased or closed on a home sale after December 29, 2006 not offered the all-electric discount. I purchased my home with the intentions of receiving this discount. It certainly is unfair to me that I missed closing on my home by a mere 20 days (by no fault of mine) and thus was shut out of a discount. Why were some (those grandfathered) allowed to continue with their discount but new home buyers not allowed. The all-electric discount was much of my decision when I purchased the home. But when the closing date passed 12-29-2006 I was out of luck. I was told by the Illuminating Company in January 2007 that I did not qualify for the discount. Why have we new homeowners been excluded from the discount and not had the discount reinstated like the other all-electric homeowners? The all-electric discount must be given to all of the all-electric homeowners.

Please docket the attached in the case number above.
