Docketing Case No.: 10-176-EL-ATA

Please docket the attached in the case number above.

My home was built in 1978 when there was a freeze on natural gas. All the homes in my development had to be electric. We have received a special rate from the electric company for that reason. I understand that the electric companies are trying to do away with the special rate. If so will they have to give you time to select an alternate fuel source? Is it possible for them to take back the special offer that was made to the homeowners when we built our home telling us that the rate would not change as long as we remained in the home? Thank You
