COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

Regarding your organization looking for commitments and other information in preparation to the evitentiary hearing scheduled on 11/29/10 at 10am.

I have lived in strongsville, ohio since 1992. Numerous times over the years, neighbors whom were all electric that changed an appliance (water heater, washer, dryer, stove, etc) from electric to non-electric (i.e. gas), received a rate hike in the electric bill. They were told that since they were not all electric anymore, they no longer were going received the all-electric discount. I wonder how may times FirstEnergy took away the all-electric discount for anyone doing this over the years and does this imply a contract or not? I know it stopped myself other others in the neighborhood from responding to the gas companies incentives to run a gas line for free to the house so we could have gas appliances.

Regards, Scott Long
