To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing in support of the issues and concerns recently brought to PUCO and Ohio Edison through Serving Our Seniors. I built my house in 1997. Being all electric was a big issue for me back then. My contractor "sold" me on the "Good Sense Home" all electric optional heating price break back then as affordable as I had it compared to natural gas (propane) and also looked into geo thermal as options. I was "sold" on the all electric home and I have to say that so far it has been affordable and lived up to every thing I was told it would. I work a second shift job so I am writing to voice my concerns and show my support to Serving Our Seniors and say that I am scared that my all electric home will no longer be affordable without the heating price break.
