1. In the Annual Report that was received for 2009 data, the company providing the information was Global Capacity Direct, LLC. The PUCO has no record of an application for a name change for Vanco Direct to Global Capacity. When did the name change occur and why was the PUCO not notified by a proper filing?

Response: In the mist of changing Vanco Direct USA, LLC's name with all Commissions, Vanco Direct USA, LLC went into bankruptcy. All work was halted.

2. In the same Annual Report referenced in question 1, it was reported that Global Capacity Direct has 112 residential and 140 business customers. Please verify these numbers and indicate whether or not any customers subscribe to BLES (basic local exchange service) or if they receive packages only. If residential/business customers will be affected by these applications, they need to be properly notified and the certification application will need to be amended.

Response: Unfortunately, the figures provided in the 2009 Annual Report are incorrect. Vanco Direct USA, LLC is in the process of contacting Shawn Smith to fix the report immediately. The company has business customers only, and no customers subscribe to BLES.

3. Please verify that the company applying for certification that will be taking ownership of Global Capacity intends to offer data services and only to business customers.

Response: That is correct. Pivotal intends to offer data services and only to business customers.

4. Please verify whether a customer notice has been sent and if not, when this will occur.

Response: No. Customer notices will be sent at least 30 days prior to the transaction in accordance with FCC rules and regulations.
