COUNSEL FOR OHIO ENERGY GROUP

MEMORANDUM IN SUPPORT

In its Motion to Strike, FirstEnergy alleges that the testimony of witnesses Joseph Hamrock and Peter Baker filed on October 21, 2011 should be stricken from the record because, according to FirstEnergy, the testimony is outside the proper scope of rebuttal testimony.¹ FES' argument is one of form over substance and should be rejected. The Commission has broad discretion to allow evidence on the record necessary to determine the issues in a proceeding. The disputed testimony further develops the record in this proceeding, assisting the Commission in making an informed decision on the issues in this case. Accordingly, the Commission should deny FirstEnergy's Motion to Strike.

The Commission "...is afforded wide discretion to allow the admission of evidence necessary to create a complete record for the resolution of issues before it."² The Commission is not strictly bound by the rules of evidence.³ Further, Ohio Adm. Code §4901-1-38(B) of the Ohio Adm. Code provides that the Commission "may, upon its own motion or for good cause shown, waive any requirement, standard, or rule set forth in this chapter or prescribe different practices or procedures to be followed in a case." Accordingly, the Commission is not bound by FirstEnergy's limited interpretation of the proper scope of rebuttal testimony. The Commission may admit evidence, such as the testimony at issue, which is important to resolving a proceeding. In this case, the testimony of Mr. Hamrock and Mr. Baker can assist the Commission in considering the Distribution Investment Rider in accordance with R.C. 4928.143(B)(2)(h).

In a recent AEP ESP case on remand from the Supreme Court, the attorney examiner addressed a motion to strike based, in part, on an argument that "[r]ebuttal is not appropriate where it could have been presented as part of the party's direct case."⁴ The examiner denied the motion to strike, noting that "[t]he Commission will give this testimony its proper weight."⁵ The Commission has denied motions to strike under a similar rationale in the past.⁶ In the present case, the Commission can also give the testimony of Mr. Hamrock and Mr. Baker appropriate weight without resorting to the extreme approach of striking all of their testimony.

Further, in the AEP ESP remand case, the Commission upheld the attorney examiner's ruling for various reasons, including the fact that "...parties were afforded the opportunity to cross-examine [the witness]...."⁷ Here, parties have the opportunity to cross-examine Mr. Hamrock and Mr. Baker on their rebuttal testimony. Both the admission of the disputed rebuttal testimony and the opportunity for cross-examination by other parties can assist in the development of a fuller record in this case. Thus, the Commission should deny FirstEnergy's Motion to Strike.

Respectfully submitted,

Michael L. Kurtz, Esq.
