Re: Thomas Morrison

Notes:

I have just received my January bill and it is approx. 11.5 cents per kwh. Last year in January it was approx. .07 cents per kwh. The difference amounts to approx. $67.55 higher this year, about 60% higher. With the difficult times that are currently affecting everyone, how did the PUCO justify that this was a reasonable increase for AEP? It is everybody's responsibility to tighten their belts and to allow AEP to increase their rates is irresponsible. I don't know if the increase can be repealed, but I would think that it should be. How does the board get elected at the PUCO? Hope to hear from you pertaining to the above in the very near future.
