When we questioned their decision to cancel geo-thermal discount. no one listened; as senior citizens on a fixed income, once again, we will be forced to cut back.

As a result of this, along comes the trickle down effect. If only two people were involved, it does not sound like much. However, we would not be the only seniors cutting back there would be thousands; enough to make a difference in the hiring practices of business establishments (retail, groceries, entertainment, etc.).

How many FE executives have to make cut backs or do without? Will they be using their bonuses to buy groceries for the seniors who are getting squeezed? Will any of them be taking us senior citizens to lunch or putting fuel in our vehicles so we can get to the doctor? Who among them will pay for our prescriptions? If their salary and/or bonus is based on profits, they surely can afford to give back instead of waiting for government programs to fill the gaps.

[REDACTED] we urge you to deny this increase to First Energy.

Sincerely,

Joseph & Susan Pate

re: Case # 12-1230-EL-SSO

We are Della and Stan Barclay, residing at 10854 Meadow Trail in Strongsville, Ohio and are writing to express our concerns about the implementation of rising electric costs to our all electric home coming beginning in calendar year 2013. As senior citizens on fixed income, and having been assured by our builder, Bob Schmidt when purchasing our home, that our all electric rates were protected we are extremely concerned about upcoming rate increases. We ask that PUCO take this into consideration when negotiating with First Energy.

Thank you for the time and attention.

Della and Stanton Barclay
