COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

We live just outside of the City of Cincinnati in Colerain Township. I understand that the City of Cincinnati plans to sue Duke Energy to force them to pass-on costs associated with moving utility lines located along the Cincinnati Streetcar line. The proposed Streetcar project has never been subjected to rigorous financial analysis to justify moving forward. It is absolutely unconsonable to pass-on theses costs to regional utility customers when the dubious benefits will be enjoyed by a select few. This is a Cincinnati project and Cincinnati must be held responsible for its costs - not people in the entire region!
