COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

Duke should not be authorized to collect dollar amounts from customers for the street car. Utility company riders should not be used as a means for governmental entities to fund public works projects, as governmental bodies have other means for paying the costs of relocating facilities. Why should costs for utilities construction work associated with an infrastructure project be buried in a utility rate increase? Why should these costs be passed on to other Duke customers outside of the geographic boundaries of the governmental entity involved? Thank you for considering my disapproval of this rate increase.
