COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

The two charges being proposed , service stability rider and switching tracker, by Dayton Power and Light are unnecessary fees that a majority of their customers cannot afford. With the costs of food, fuel and every consumable item available to the public rising, the utility companies are not contributing to helping the community or their customers by proposing such useless fees. This would not improve my electric service, only increase the electric service provider's annual revenue. I am very tired of my income staying steady and my daily living expenses rising. I am not far from being homeless and hungry at this point.
