COMMENTS: As one who has attained the age of 68+, my wife (67) of 48+yrs. have both been through several changes including going from 4 & 5 digit numbers & 10 party lines, 2 area code changes not to mention rotary dials, touch tone, wireless handsets, cell phones, & several phone number changes, etc.. I believe looking at the whole picture it would be much wiser if the numbers, etc. are available to split the area code as you did the 614/513/409 etc. many years ago.

While it probably is inevitable with the current technology we will one day all have to use 10 digit dialing as we now due for a lot of our cell phone use, I believe it would be prudent at this time & place to go to 2 different Area Codes. It has proven beneficial in the past & to prepare for the 10 digit dialing in the future baring major technological changes which I'm sure will probably come before the 10 digit is required nationwide.

Thanks for listening & if you happen to be the one reading this whole thing - a special thanks to you for not baling out till you finished.

COMMENTS: Plan B, Split would be the better of the 2 plans. Less problematic and we are a much slower growing area. Plus, cell phone numbers are out-pacing land line applications.

COMMENTS: I would prefer to go with a split as was done when the 614 area code was in the same situation a few years back. I feel the ability to dial seven digits for local numbers is too convenient to give up.
