A member of the staff of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has discovered that the customer-owned, coin-operated telephone (COCOT), phone number [614] 471-1811, located at United Dairy Farmers, 3745 Cleveland Ave., Columbus, Ohio 43224, is in violation of the following Commission-ordered requirements of such instruments:

- A. Does not provide access to Directory Assistance for free and without the use of a coin;
- B. Name and telephone number of the COCOT owner is not provided in clear and easy-to-read form posted at or near COCOT location; and
- C. White and yellow page telephone directories not provided at COCOT location.

Any provider of COCOT service that obtains a local access line or subscriber line from a local exchange company is a customer of that company and is subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the company's tariffs and must comply with all the requirements set forth in the Opinion and Order issued by the Commission on January 29, 1985, in Case No. 84-863-TP-COI. Failure to comply with these tariffs and Opinion and Order or any related rule approved by the Commission shall be grounds for disconnection.

Your corrective action is now required to avoid such disconnection. After fifteen days of the postmarked date of this notice an investigator will return to ensure that all of the foregoing deficiencies have been corrected. Failure to
