Dear Commissioners:

As residents of Ohio, we are writing to voice our concerns over the state of energy policy in Ohio. This is a great place to live, but we need to improve air quality and energy costs to compete in the global economy.

First and foremost, we must deny any request from utility companies for a "bailout" of their old power plants. These companies have benefited greatly from the free market, and must now bear some of the costs. Causing the rates of all energy customers to go up, even if they get their power from a different source, is unacceptable.

Second, please work to lift the freeze on Ohio's renewable energy standards. Saving customers and taxpayers money, while at the same time improving air and water quality, benefits us all.

Also, please support a federal standard for reducing carbon emissions. Keeping all states accountable to the same level is vital to making real improvements to quality of life for ourselves and future generations.

Sincerely,

The O'Rourke Family

I care about the above issue deeply because I care for my family, my friends, my fellow man and the children of today and tomorrow. Everyone deserves to enjoy the beauty and wonder of THIS planet in this vast universe. As I must take responsibility of my actions and my contribution to this world, so MUST big business. The time is NOW, because unfortunately later is already here. FirstEnergy and Duke cannot keep taking, it must start doing and giving back to this planet from its profits not bailouts. Clean air is a MUST, pollution has to be reduced and they need to stop with providing electricity from their ancient coal burning power plants and start investing in cleaner energy solutions for electricity, not further studies. I am asking you, as my voice to deny their requests for additional bailouts for megawatts from their coal-burning power plants in Ohio. The bailout proposals would also create a new unavoidable charge for customers no matter what energy power supplier is selected and prolong the movement to cleaner energy sources.

Thank you,

To whom it may concern,

I would like to start off by saying that it is not okay that Ohio is the third most polluted state. As a result of our state's toxic pollution, our electric bills are through the roof. Most importantly, the air we are breathing is endangering us. As the PUCO, it is your responsibility to fix this issue! Fixing the issue now will only benefit the both of us. The expenses that will come of this pollution in the future will hurt everyone. Taking care of the problem is a win-win situation.

New technology is necessary to take care of this because it is quite obvious that what is available now isn't working. Are you okay that your breathing toxic air? I'm not.

In regards to FirstEnergy 14-1297-EL-SSO I want to voice my opinion

I am very concerned about reducing toxic pollution for my children's sake and their children's sake. I will be furious if you approve the bail out of the old technology that continues to put toxins into the environment. Let's make these big energy companies act responsibly and invest in efficient and renewable energy! And Let them PAY!! Not me!! It is their responsibility.

Hi, my name is Hannah. I want to keep the air the air clean. I think we should keep the air clean because if we don't it could cause people to get sick or even die! Ways we can do that are:

1. Don't litter.
2. Recycle.
3. Plant trees.

If we do these things the air will be clean and we will be able to breathe! That is why we should keep the air clean.

I feel very strongly that the Commission must attend to, and speak for, the long-term interests and benefits of the people of Ohio. This bailout is not fair to the U.S. Citizens. Especially for us middle class, hard working Ohioans, the fact that you would want to, A, pollute the air even more and B, screw hard working Americans out of money while doing it is very wrong. It's bad business. First Energy makes enough money as it is. They sponsor the Cleveland Browns and take in a lot of revenue from that. Make this stop. I am writing about the request for a bailout for FirstEnergy's outdated coal plants.

I care about this issue because I care about reducing pollution and supporting clean energy. I do not, however, support having to pay to continue to pay for outdated technology to support shareholders. The company should also be held accountable to the customers that pay for the product. The utility company make enough profit to comply with new standards and can afford to use some of that profit to either update, or shutdown their outdated and inefficient coal plants. Please do not 'bailout' the utility company and force an increase in the consumer's utility rates.

Thank you,

To whom it may concern,

I cannot believe that consumers are going to be asked to bailout yet another irresponsible industry. FirstEnergy belongs to an industry that has ridden roughshod over clean air standards and reaped tremendous profits while trampling on consumer rights and callously ignoring the health and wellbeing of the very people that fund those profits.

Please make polluters pay their own freight and provide us with clean energy alternatives. It would be nice if my children could enjoy life on this earth and look back on us and know we did the right thing for them and their future.

Please – no bailout for First Energy's outdated coal plants. We must reduce air pollution and optimize our utility dollars. Escalating rates are unacceptable and impose a financial burden on already strained budgets. Hold First Energy accountable to their customers and to the children of this state, who deserve clean air now and in the future.

Dear Sirs,

As I read that you are planning to raise our electricity rates to pay for your plants, when our rates are already high and our air quality is low, I must wonder what you have done with the money you are constantly collecting. Why is this money not being used to improve your plants, so that we can have the clean energy that we have a right to have. We and our children and grandchildren deserve to breathe clean air, as are your own families and those of your workers.

The number of people with respiratory issues - due to pollution at least in part - is high in this area, as I am sure you know. I am very concerned that you - in order to maximize profits for your company and shareholders - are unwilling to at least improve the situation. Please know that I protest your uncaring and irresponsible attitude.

Sincerely,

Dear PUCO:

I believe First Energy should be held accountable to us, as customers before their shareholders. I do not feel a bailout and going back to when we had less choice in where we purchased our energy from, is the best solution to the problem of outdated coal plants. I would like to see a reduction in air pollution and do feel the responsibility for that should fall on the shoulders of more than just the consumers.

I care about this issue as our outdated coal plants become pollution is a problem and we need to be providing the cleanest energy sources as possible. The proposal would put the cleanup & updating on the backs of consumers by raising rates. A bailout is not needed so that energy companies can maintain high shareholder profits.

I care about the environment, not just now, but in the future. I would like us to leave a cleaner, less polluted world for our children and theirs. So, to help reduce air pollution I urge First Energy to use more efficient, less toxic sources of energy generation. It is shameful to be using outdated technology that pollutes our air. In addition, I resent having to pay for these practices.

Come on First Energy, step up to the plate and be a responsible global citizen.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to you today about a serious environmental issue that deeply affects my community and me: air pollution.

I understand that First Energy and Duke have submitted plans to PUCO for financial bailouts of some of their most outdated and expensive coal plants, and thereby forcing customers, such as myself, to buy the power from these old expensive plants for the next 15 years, even though purchasing power from the market has saved customers a lot of money.

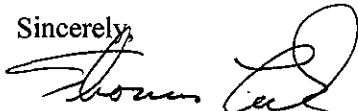

I also understand that the Ohio legislature passed a 2-year "freeze" on Ohio's renewable energy standards, which have saved customers $1.03 billion in just the first 5 years. Although First Energy and Duke say they need time to "study" the issue, the reality is that they just want to kill the program so they can keep the profits. It is imperative that our legislators end the freeze and help customers keep saving money.

Lastly, I understand that the proposed national "Clean Power Plan" was released this past June with the goal of reducing carbon emission from coal-fired power plants. Each state has its own goal to meet by 2030. We need a federal standard so each state complies, which will level the playing field.

The bottom line is that I care about reducing toxic air pollution and saving money on electric bills, not only for me, but also for my whole community. Therefore, I urge our utilities to provide cleaner energy sources for our electricity. The above-mentioned bailout would cause all of our rates to go up no matter what energy company we buy from. That being said, I should not have to pay for FirstEnergy to continue polluting our air with this outdated technology. On behalf of my community and myself, we need FirstEnergy to be held accountable to their customers, not their shareholders.

Thank you for your time.
