re: Duke Energy Case #14-D841EL-SSD PUCO

Dear PUCO,

I'm writing to express my strong objection to the Duke Energy rate increase which forces consumers to pay for coal power in Ohio. This is nothing more than a bailout fee to a supplier of the dirtiest, most environmentally harmful energy source. Please end this mandatory charge.

As a citizen, I care very much about cleaning up and protecting our environment. My electricity supplier, Cincinnati Bell, assures me that wind power alone is generating my electrical power. Yet my supplier rate is lower than Duke Energy's charge. Why? This suggests that Duke Energy can convert to environmentally friendly energy sources, i.e. wind, solar, without great financial hardship.

Please deny this rate increase <sup>from</sup> ~~to~~ Duke Energy and any other power supplier.

I was visited by a volunteer working for the Ohio Citizen Action organization, and appreciated her dedication to cleaning up the air here in Ohio. She was out working on a cold evening in Nov. I care about Ohio's air since I live here, and so do my children and many other family members and friends. Please urge Duke Energy to work towards replacing their old coal plants with plants that are greener and produce less pollution. Thanks!

I do not think Duke Energy customers should have to bailout their outdated coal plants.

On the other hand, I do not think the EPA should pass environmental standards that cannot be met and are not necessarily required. Higher EPA standards means someone has to pay. I don't want to be that person. Use common sense.

To Whom It May Concern:

We are writing you today to state that we care about this issue for our family and our future as we all want to reduce air pollution and still save money on our electric bill and urge our utilities to provide cleaner energy sources in production. This bailout would cause all of our rates to go up no matter what source it comes from. We should not have to pay Duke to keep on polluting our air with their substandards. We need Duke to be responsible; not me the consumer aka bill payer not salary receiver.

Thank you for your time,

Dear PUCO,

I have learned of Duke's proposal to raise rates on consumers for their out-dated coal plants. Since you represent the citizens of Ohio, I felt it important to write you on this issue. I do not agree with Duke's proposal, nor do I agree with AEP's or First Energy's proposal. These companies are looking to hold us hostage for their own profits. Bailing out old technology does benefit Ohio Citizens. First it continues to pollute our air which is unacceptable. All of Ohio is going through a transformation. Pride is working its way back into Ohio cities. We should continue this by making air quality better for future generations.

Second, we live in the United States, where we pride ourselves on an open market where competition is meant to help consumers. With this proposal raising bills on everyone, regardless of whether folks have Duke or not, destroys consumers ability to show Duke how they feel. It also forces us to pay money to something we don't agree with and no way of getting out of it. That is wrong, and again only helps these companies, not consumers.

The last thing I want you to consider is the people you represent. With the middle class shrinking folks need to cut costs where they can. This proposal does not help them, it does not help the older generation who is living on ~~a tight~~ budget (like my grandmother), single parent families doing the same, or aspiring students working on getting a degree. Also, keep in mind all those with asthma, lung cancer, and all those who live down wind from these plants. Coal is not clean and there are health problems associated with those who are constantly exposed to it. Is it not time to properly help these folks, and <sup>begin to</sup> repair the damage <sup>that has</sup> been done?

You are in a special position because you represent Ohio citizens, a job that should not be taken lightly. Please take the time to weigh the options, but ultimately do what is best for the citizens of this great state. The time is now, and our future is waiting for us. We are ~~not~~ ready to move ~~forward~~ forward toward a greater and cleaner environment, and you have the ability to help us get there. This is why I urge you to vote no for Duke's proposal. Send a strong message that a transition is needed in Ohio, because that is what the people want. Thank you for your time.

To whom it may concern,

Not only as a citizen of Ohio, but as an occupant of the world, I, just as every man, woman, and child, have an obligation to protect my planet and its' resourced so that they can endure and continue to be a suitable and available for the generations of people that will succeed me. However, when I was notified of the actions that First Energy and Duke have taken to solicit a financial bailout for their outdated coal plants, I realized that I may not share the same aspirations as these corporations.

Simply stated, I do not support any continued investment into antiquated technologies and plans that are not conducive to sustaining our resources and our environment, which is what this bailout would do. This is not the way to achieve the cleaner, efficient civilization that I, as well as many others, so desperately want to see arise. Additionally, as a consumer of Duke's 'product', I am aware that this bailout would establish a contract where consumers would be forced to purchase the product of the coal plants, rather than purchasing product from the market, which would, consequentially, increase our rates. This country continually preaches concepts like democracy and free-market, yet nothing about this bailout demonstrates a commitment to either of those concepts.

Ultimately, I urge you to cancel any intentions of providing financial support to Duke or First Energy if their intent is to keep our energy usage in the past and to hold their consumers hostage. In doing so, not only are you supporting the very things that we strive to promote as a society, but you will additionally help make my fight to provide a healthy place for my children to live in the future much easier.

Dear Public Utilities Commission of Ohio:

Clean air is vital to everyday living and our planet. Beyond the day-to-day problems that pollution can cause, such as disturbing our ecosystem or health risks the cost involved is outrageous. My monthly electric bill for a family of four is unacceptable. Duke Energy needs to find a way to reduce costs for its customers, use modern technology and get rid of old coal plants.

I hope that Duke Energy will make decisions based on the good of many and not the few. The benefits will far outweigh the cost involved and will still allow Duke to be a profitable business.

Dear Sir or Madam,

It has been brought to my attention that Duke Energy is working in Ohio to make customers like me pay for financial bailouts of some of their most outdated and expensive coal burning power plants. This seems like a poor substitute for striding towards sustainable energy production, and cutting back on our consumption of fossil fuels.

Climate change is real, and humans are unquestionably causing it with our continued burning of fossil fuels, and our resistance to change our practices simply because it will affect the bottom line of profit. My family, friends, and neighbors should not have to pay, and therefore encourage Duke Energy to continue polluting our air with this outdated technology. I would like to see Duke Energy be accountable to its customers, and the future of enjoying a habitable climate, rather than its shareholders pursuit of the almighty dollar.

Dear Sir or Madam;

I am writing to express my disagreement with the proposed rate increase by Duke Energy. My disagreement stems from the probability that the profits arising from this rate increase will be used to cover the costs of outdated and inefficient coal plants owned by Duke Energy. I am a Duke Energy customer and as such feel that I have an entitlement to comment on this issue. The proposed rate increase only serves to postpone investments in efficient energy production, to include renewable energy technologies, while continuing to increase my energy bills and degrade the environment in the meantime.

I care deeply about the current health and future preservation of Ohio's environment and natural resources. Incidents like the Dan River pollution that occurred in North Carolina & Virginia could in fact happen in Ohio unless we take preventative measures. I believe resisting the rate increase is the first of these measures and I urge you to deny the rate increase as a first step and in the future, to continue to protect citizens by decreasing toxic pollution and challenging the most-offending polluters.

Dear DUO,

As a concerned citizen of the earth's ecological system, I feel the government, the public utilities, and citizens have the responsibilities to take a proactive stance with creating and using more efficient means to reduce toxic pollution and support cleaner energy.

This means ~~reducing~~ replacing outdated technology of coal plants, for one, at the citizens' expense.

If Europe, esp. Germany, can use energy more efficiently, ie 50%, why can't the U.S. and Duke Energy follow the same pursuit. We have the means and money to advance to this technology. I would like to see Duke Energy and the government to fulfill their roles.

I'm a Cincinnati homeowner and ratepayer to Duke Energy. It's already hard enough with FirstEnergy often trying to switch me over without informed consent. They come to my door and asking for my bill and if I have received a nonexistent refund check, just so they can get my information and switch my account without telling me. I'm at a constant state of not knowing who my energy provider truly is - nor the true rate I should be paying. It feels like a constant fleecing game, and that I can't trust anyone.

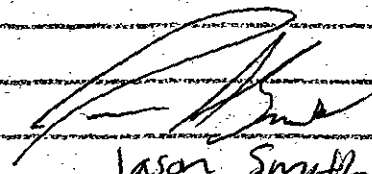

And to now be expected by Duke Energy, AEP and First Energy to pay for the costs of continuing use for their outdated plants rather than upgrading to cleaner, more efficient, environmentally friendly, and inexpensive energy sources - I just find myself at a complete loss. It's not acceptable, all this does is cause more air pollution to our beautiful state, which is already at one of the highest rates in our nation, and delay the inevitable of needing to replace these outdated and dangerous plants. And paying more money to companies who obviously more tied together than they would have their consumers believe - thus showing they are not as transparent as they claim - is not acceptable.

Please don't allow this Duke Energy bailout out of the outdated coal plants that will just cause people to think of Ohio as a four letter word rather than the state that it can and should be.

I don't want to breathe this toxic pollution. Why would I be OK with my dog and my grandchildren filling their lungs with it as well? We've already depleted so many of our natural resources. Don't you want your family's next generation to witness the beauty of forests, green spaces, freely running clean water? Or even just the basic - a clean breath of air.

To Whom It May Concern,

Please reconsider your bailout of outdated coal plants. It is more important to look to investing in efficient and renewable energy. As with most it is important to our family to look for options to save money on our electric bill but not at the expense of clean air. Please deny the rate increase that will lock us consumers into the buying of old and dirty coal plants in Ohio.

RE: Case 14-0841EL-SSO

Dear Public Utilities Commission of Ohio-

I am writing today concerning case number 14-0841EL-SSO for Duke Energy. We are concerned about the fact that Ohio rates in the top five for pollution. I pay my bill to Duke Energy, and care about focusing on renewable, clean energy so my children can be insured of living a bright future. It is my understanding that Duke Energy intends to increase rates, not to pursue more efficient, renewable energy, but to invest more in current outdated plants. I'd prefer my increased rate support updating/building energy plants that focus on forward thinking technology which takes care of our environment while also meeting consumer demand. It is our hope that by denying a rate increase, we can insure power companies work harder to seek forward thinking, cleaner energy models.

Thank you-

To whom it may concern,

I disagree with the spending on toxic coal plants.

If spending was to go anywhere, the first priority should be to invest in efficient and renewable energy. I believe that clean air

To Whom It May Concern:

I am deeply concerned that Duke Energy is working to make Ohio customers pay for its old coal plants. I care about this issue because I want to reduce toxic air pollution and urge our utilities to provide cleaner energy sources for our electricity.

In addition, my family and I care about energy costs. This proposed bailout would cause all of our rates to go up, no matter which company we buy our energy from. Consumers should not have to continue to support this outdated technology. Duke needs to be accountable to its customers, not their shareholders.

Thank you for taking my views into consideration.

Dear PUCO,

Today I'm writing you on behalf of my family to let you know that we do not want any bailouts for any of the power companies. Duke Energy, AEP, and First Energy are teaming up to sponge more money out of our pockets, to fix their mistakes. They need to invest their own money into their business model and stop relying on tax payers like us to bail them out. It makes absolutely no sense to ask the tax payers to put their hard earned money into a sink hole like this. It's paramount to spending 2 dollars to get 1 dollar.

The environment is very important to my family as well, and it is our responsibility to future generations to protect it. The current power facilities are old and inefficient, and are harmful to the environment. These power companies need to modernize their operations and fix their mistakes.

I care very much about this issue, which is why I've taken the time out of my day to write this. It's important to me and my family that we don't waste funding for things like this, and bail companies out of their responsibilities time and time again. Our kid's futures depend on it.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

For the past few years Duke Energy has had a profit increase in their company but rates for consumers have stayed at a static rate. This is wrong; this classic form of socializing losses like the rate increase after Hurricane Isaac and privatizing the gains as exhibited by the static rate is the essence of corruption of corporations and the plague driving the fall of the middle class.

My family greatly believes that global warming is a direct cause of greater pollution, ~~harsher~~ harsher weather, and more frequent storms, among other effects. Opening their old and toxic power plants would only contribute to this effect. We do not want this.

I pay my bill to Duke Energy and I care about pollution and the exploitation of the middle class exhibited by Duke Energy.

Do not allow the PUCO to let Duke Energy have this bailout.

Renewable Energy is what must be invested in, not old coal plants.

Dear PUCO,

While I care about reducing toxic pollution, especially from Ohio's dirty coal plants, I resent bailing out this type of old polluting technology. I personally invest in efficient renewable energy.

Grandchildren and I suffer from sinus infections from this air pollution! To add insult to injury, we are expected to spend more on our electric bills and still receive no relief.

I believe we must save the planet first by saving our neighborhood with renewable energy. Others have, and I vote that we follow suit.

Dear PUCO,

My family and I care about reducing toxic pollution and saving money on our electric bill. We feel that your actions are corrupt and unjustified. You are losing the respect of your "valued customers" by refusing to invest in renewable resources. We are no longer in a time where pollution and fossil fuels MAY affect our environment and lives, we live in a time where there is hard evidence attesting to these facts. By choosing to ignore these facts, you are blatantly saying you would rather make money than make changes that can only affect your customers as well as every person on this planet in a positive way. I see no excuse for refusing to update your policies and invest in new technology. Outdated thinking always catches up with us; you don't want to be on the wrong side of this issue.

Our family makes a lot of effort in our own home to make environmentally-conscious choices - everything from the purchases we make, recycling + composting to conserving water and energy.

It would be great if we could expect some kind of effort from our utility company. Please do not allow a rate increase that will continue the use of outdated + unsustainable methods in energy production PAID FOR by all of us.

It's time for these companies to think about making changes to the way they do things, with the future in mind. We should not be bailing out these coal plants (CASE # 14-0841EL-550) but instead utilizing all the research + technologies available to provide clean energy.

I pay bills to Duke Energy and I care about this issue due to the effect this older power producing technology is having on our environment. I am concerned about reducing toxic pollution and saving on my utility bills. Continuing to support old technology which continues to pollute our environment is only delaying the inevitable. Investments need to be made into newer energy efficient technology.
