COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

My name is Gail Dunlap and I am an 8th generation farmer in Ross Co. Ohio where a proposed 138,000-kilovolt transmission line -Biers Run-Circleville -is to be constructed. Last spring I planted 750+ young hardwood trees in this same land and if the line runs through I am certain these trees will be destroyed. Although we all need electricity I think we also need trees and in the 21st century there are alternatives to fossil fuel generated energy. So why another power line when there are ecological alternatives that would cost less and benefit the earth and her creatures? I hope my complaint will be considered before more of the environment is desecrated needlessly. Thank you for your attention to this matter. sincerely, Gail Dunlap
