Re: Stop the First Energy bailout

Case # 14-1297-EL-SSO

Dear members of PUCO,

I'm writing both to congratulate you on your decision to deny a bailout for 2 of the polluting, outdated coal plants and to encourage you to continue to hold the energy companies accountable, rather than the consumer (who have little choice or say, though stand to be the losers financially and environmentally). It is important to me and my family that Ohio improves its air quality and holds the energy companies accountable for their inefficient and polluting power plants. A bailout is not fair to the citizens of Ohio financially or environmentally and only benefits utility shareholders. I know I am in the majority when I call for an investment in cleaner energy and corporate responsibility.

Sincerely,

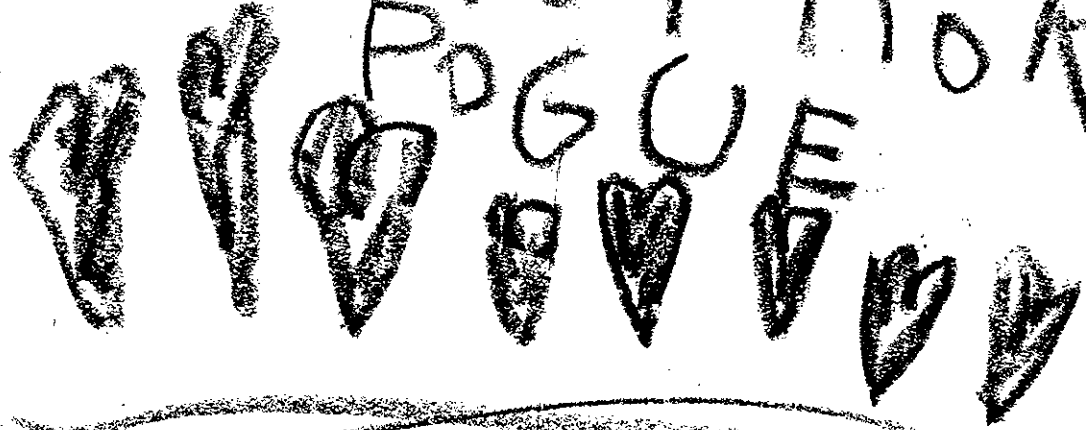

Sarah Pogue
