Dear Sirs:

I am writing because I care about clean air in Ohio and think coal plants are out dated and need to be replaced. I also care about saving money on my electric bill and think we should not be bailing out coal plants. How much longer do the taxpayers have to put up with this situation? The time has come to stop the coal plant bailouts.

Dear Sir/Madam,

RE: CASE NUMBER –FIRST ENERGY 14 – 1297 – EL – SSO

We care about this issue because,

- We do not agree with the rate increase which will lock us into buying power from Ohio's oldest, dirtiest coal plants.
- Our family are true advocates of reducing toxic pollution and saving money on our electricity bills.
- A bailout of old, polluting technology only benefits utility shareholders and delays inevitable investment in efficiency and renewable energy.

FirstEnergy's bailout request should be stopped.

To whom it may concern:

I was dismayed to hear that yet another industry is essentially asking for a government bailout to prop up their aging and noncompetitive infrastructure. Enough already. Let them compete without special privileges or favors. We need to find new ways to support our economy in a more innovative and positive way that doesn't affect families with unsupported higher energy costs.

RE: First Energy Case number 14-1297-EL-SS.

We are writing to express our strong objection to the proposal by Duke Energy, AEP and First Energy to raise consumer rate for power. We object because the rate increase will allow these companies to buy power from oldest and dirtiest coal plants.

We are resident of Ohio since 1985 care strongly about this issue because we are deeply worried about environment pollution. The rate increase will allow the companies to keep buying power from economically and environmentally unsustainable firms.

We thank you for listening to our concerns and request you to deny permission to these companies to raise consumer rate.

Dear Sirs,

I am an Ohio resident who uses electricity. But I also like to breathe. So I would be really happy if you all would deny the rate increase requested by First Energy. The idea of increasing my electric bill to support coal-burning power plants older than I am boggles my mind.

If they were asking for a rate increase to build new wind or biomass or other green energy capacity, I could go along with it. But as a business owner (I own a landscape architecture firm), I have to look at every investment in terms of its future. And I don't believe that coal is the future.

The planned rate increases to lock my rates into an inefficient energy source and supplier are unacceptable. Not only will this cost far too much, the effect it will have on Ohio and the environment are unacceptable. To whom it may concern,

I am writing in opposition of FirstEnergy's recent ESP request (case number: 14-1297-EL-SSO). As a citizen of Ohio, I am strongly against increasing the energy costs of consumers in the form of a rate increase to benefit FirstEnergy's unprofitable and unsustainable energy plants. I fundamentally disagree with the notion that the promise of future profits should outweigh the degradation of Ohio's environment. If FirstEnergy is focusing their argument on future benefits, I believe it is important to also focus on the environmental impact of the efficiency of the energy plants we are perpetuating.

Governor Public Utilities Commission of Ohio,

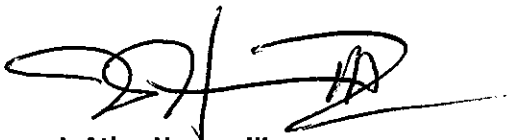

I am a property owner, tax payer, in Lakewood, Ohio. I do not support Duke Energy and First Energy's proposal with the PUCO to allow them to raise their consumer rates.

REPUBLICAN LEADERS PROMISED THAT COMPETITION WOULD DRIVE DOWN COSTS and yet here we see 2 publically traded companies requesting rate increases PURELY SO THAT THEY CAN MAXIMIZE THEIR PROFITS AND MAINTAIN HIGHER STOCK PRICES. There is a cost to doing business and they and the stock holders should have to pay that cost. Putting the bill upon the TAX PAYERS in Ohio is simply allowing corporations to lock in their profits – without any risk – and having the tax payers bail them out.

Republican leaders promised CHOICE but under this proposal, this would be a nonbypassable charge on my electric bill – so even switching to a different provider (free market) will not help me to save money.

You can either side with the PUBLIC / CITIZENS OF OHIO or you can side with the large corporations. It will be an election year very shortly. We expect ALL OF OUR LEADERS AND REGULATORS TO DO WHAT IS IN THE BEST INTEREST OF THE PEOPLE AND NOT THE CORPORATIONS!

I will be watching this issue and many others like it. Governmental decisions do have consequences at the election box!

To whom it may concern,

I am writing in regard to the request by First Energy for a bailout of its outdated coal plants. I am concerned that the air quality in Ohio is subpar and its citizens are exposed to the toxic pollution generated by the use of outdated technology in these plants.

I'm also concerned that First Energy is threatening to increase rates for customers who are locked into purchasing their power from these plants. To charge consumers additional fees because of the inefficiency of the plants is like me asking my boss for a raise because I refuse to update my skills.

This bailout would only discourage the necessary investment in clean, efficient energy production through current technology and renewable resources. It's a step backwards to continue to reward those companies that refuse to take it upon themselves to improve their product and its production.

To Whom it may concern,

Striving towards a pollution-free environment is a goal everyone on our planet should work toward. Even Pope Francis is on-board with this!

First Energy, along with Duke Energy and A.E.P., wants to obtain permission to raise consumer electric energy rates. Profits they receive from this will be used to cover the costs of their pollution-causing, outdated coal plants. (The case # for First Energy is: 14-1297-EL-SSO)

Please do not approve this bailout request!

Thank you!

To Ohio Utilities Commission,

My family and I care about reducing pollution and saving money on our electric bills. We are recently retired and do not believe that we should be locked into paying for the First Energy Bailout. The use of outdated and inefficient coal plants is not cost effective and adds to the global carbon footprint. Your commission will make this decision and we trust you will make the right one for the citizens of Ohio.

My electric bills are high enough as it is, asking us to pay for this bailout is not fair to any of us.

Please keep pressure to stop First Energy's request for this Bailout.

I am a resident of Ohio who is quite frankly outraged at the idea that you would allow consumers to be required to pay more for power because utility companies are more involved in gaining profits than helping the country improve clean energy sources. When my car needs to be fixed I pay for my car to be fixed. I don't ask the people at work who benefit from me having a car to pay for my vehicle. Why should I have to pay for equipment that should have been maintained or updated years ago and not wait until they are falling apart to realize they need to put money into them and now we the consumers have to pay instead of the ignorant, greedy companies that allowed them to fall into disrepair?

Please deny the rate increase to lock consumers into buying power from Ohio's oldest, dirtiest coal plants. I am writing to ask you to deny the request of Duke Energy, AEP, and First Energy to raise consumer rates so they can keep using outdated, inefficient coal plants. My family and I care about reducing toxic pollution and saving money on our electric bill. By bailing out these old, polluting plants you are only benefitting the utility companies and not the citizens of Ohio. I would urge you to invest in renewable energy instead. This will improve the quality of life that my two sons will have as they grow-up.

Please do not let the utility companies continue to pollute our state with outdated power plant emissions.

I am against the proposal by Duke Energy, AEP and First Energy to PUCO to receive permission to raise consumer rates. These rate increases are needed because they are inefficient suppliers that use coal. It's an understatement to say this type of energy is awful for the environment. We shouldn't reward these types of companies with a rate increase. To the contrary we need to invest in companies that use renewable energy

Dear PUCO Commissioners,

I am writing to express my concern over First Energy's recent bailout request (case # 14-1297-EL-SSO). As a consumer I am already feeling the pain of increased utility bills, while energy giants like First Energy are making profits hand over fist. I find it difficult to believe that First Energy cannot find the funds to bail themselves out! In order to improve our state's environmental/health quality, it is important that the polluting power plants run by First Energy be upgraded as soon as possible-on their dime, NOT on the consumer's.

Please deny this rate increase request by First Energy, who is rolling in profits. Help Ohio consumers live with better air quality and a sounder financial future by requiring First Energy to pay its fair share and do what it has the financial capability right now.

Thank you for doing the right thing for Ohio consumers.

I urge you to reject the Purchase Power Agreement sought by First Energy, Duke Energy, and AEP in the above-captioned matter. This agreement would require Ohio ratepayers to pay for power from several outmoded, inefficient coal and nuclear power plants. We effectively paid for these fifteen years ago during the transition to deregulated power plants. We must not now be required to pay again for the utilities' inefficiencies and poor management decisions.

Moreover, this agreement would eliminate any incentive the utilities would have to operate these plants efficiently or to retire these plants. Instead, the PUCO should reject the agreement and require that the utilities both bear these costs and move toward a more efficient, less costly, environmentally sustainable mix of electric generation, one that no longer relies on fossil fuels, particularly coal.

CASE # 14-1297-EL-SSO

Ohio Citizen Action informed me of FirstEnergy's proposal to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to get permission to raise consumer rates due to outdated and inefficient coal plants. I support clean energy and understand investing in new cleaner technology comes at a cost, however, I believe these large and very profitable organizations can re-invest in their business without having to passing on rate increases to consumers. Furthermore, I do not believe in the "purchase power agreement" which effectively mandates consumers to purchase power from these inefficient plants.

Please deny the rate increase to lock consumers into buying power from Ohio's outdated energy plants. I believe supporting the bail-out of old, polluting technology only benefits utility shareholders and kicks the can down the road. I am proud to live in a country that is a leader in green initiatives, efficiency and renewable energy and I believe the utility company's should take action now.

Thank you for your previous denial of Duke Energy's request for a bailout as well as AEP's original request for the Kyger Creek and Clifty Creek coal plant bailout.

I am writing in regards to First Energy case 14-1297-SSO. It is my understanding that First Energy plans to lock customers into buying power from Ohio's oldest, dirtiest coal plants. Our electric bills should not increase because First Energy has delayed investment in efficient and renewable energy. Our children and grandchildren are at risk if new forms of energy, such as solar and wind, are not developed. The air we breathe and the water we drink is also affected by outdated coal plants.

I would appreciate you as members of the PUCO to deny First Energy's request for a rate hike.

Public Utilities Commission of Ohio,
Please deny the rate increase to lock consumers into buying power from Ohio's oldest coal dirtiest coals plants. A bailout of these older plants that are well beyond their prime is not something I want to pay for. I care about reducing pollution and saving money on my own electric bill. There needs to be investment in efficient and renewable energy not bailouts

Sincerely,

To the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio,

I must ask you, as public servants, to please consider denying any utility rate increases that do not address Ohio moving forward into a new energy policy, keeping cleaner energy production foremost in the interests of all Ohioans.

Coal was the greatest energy source for our industrial growth and development into an international force. Ohio can be a state of international fame and influence if you, the commissioners, can help drive the future toward less reliance on coal. I am glad we had coal when we did. It has become a useful but antiquated energy source and efforts to control its pollutants have driven the costs of energy production higher and higher with a resultant plateau and no alternatives looking as good. However, one can no longer find a balance between cheap energy such as coal and environmental protection.

Please, this issue is important to me so my children can stay in Ohio. They want to have futures here. They want to raise families here. Ohio is a really good place. Please show all the leadership you can muster and try to carve out a future for all Ohioans' energy needs without continuing or increasing our reliance on coal.

Thank you for your service to the people of the Great State of Ohio!

Dear Public Utilities Commission of Ohio

My family and I care about reducing toxic pollution and saving money on our electric bills. So please consider alternative methods for energy. Such as wind power, solar power and ETC. Please deny the rate increase to lock consumers into buying power from Ohio's oldest, dirtiest coal plants. I care about this issue because of health and wellness of mother earth for many years to come. Thank you

Dear Sir,

I care about this issue. Please deny the rate increase that will lock consumers into buying power from these old and dirty coal fired plants. We need to be reducing toxic pollution not increasing pollution.

Regarding 14-1297-EL-SSO

Dear PUCO,

Please deny the rate increase to lock consumers into buying power from Ohio's oldest, dirtiest coal plants. My family and I care about reducing toxic pollution and saving money on our electric bills. A bailout of old, polluting technology only benefits utility shareholders and delays inevitable investment in efficiency and renewable energy.

Dear Members of PUCO,

I am writing as I am concerned about the potential increase in my utility rates due to a possible bailout by several energy companies.

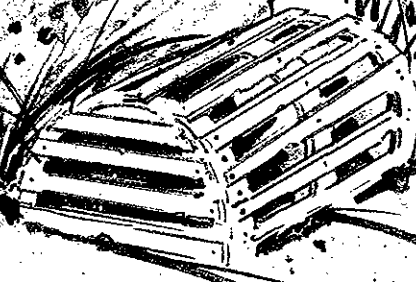

A rate hike would shift the cost of the running outdated plants to the consumer. An investment in upgrading those plants, building new plants or even better explore renewable energy opportunities.

Please reconsider any thoughts you might have in agreeing to save our air!

PUCO,

The fact that it is even an option for energy providers to have the option of coal burning produced energy is disgusting. As a father of two small children, I find it appalling that my kids are subject to this absolutely polluted environment. Please take into account healthy lifestyles before big bank accounts are energy suppliers are not passing the benefit of any of their price breaks along. We have no choice.
