Case No. 14-1297-EL-SSO

Governor Kasich,

It is time for the nation, and Ohio, to move forward in combating climate change. A bailout of coal burning utilities is not in our best, long-term interest. I am less interested in the effect of continued coal burning on me than I am in the eventual effect it will have on my grandchildren. Time to act is now.

Put our future generations first!

Subject: Stop the First Energy Bailout
Case Number First Energy 14-1297-EL-SSO

Dear PUCO Commissioners,

This short letter is to add my voice to many other Ohioans on our concern regarding the Duke Energy, AEP and First Energy request for a bailout of their old coal electrical generating plants.

Please deny the rate increase to lock consumers into buying power from their Ohio oldest and dirtiest coal plants. A bailout of old, polluting technology only benefits the utility shareholders and delays inevitable investment in efficiency and renewable energy.

My family and I care about reducing toxic pollution and saving money on our electric bills.

Sincerely,

Re: Case #14-1297-EL-550

In today's society it seems instead of working on a solution that benefits everyone companies are trying to take the easy way out by asking for a bailout. These plants & technology have been ~~bad~~ for a long time. I care about reducing pollution but I think it is time for the company owners, executives & shareholders to start reducing their income to benefit everyone. That also includes their families who benefit. Please deny the request for a bailout & make the PUCO responsible for a solution not the consumer.

Dear Public Utilities Commissioners:

Please deny the rate increase proposed by Duke and First Energy. They should plan for the maintenance of their plants and not pass every cost increase on to the consumers, many of us locked into a fixed income for the last decade. Our choice of energy source should also be maintained.

Lindsay Smith

Public Utilities Commission of Ohio,

Currently Power companies are trying to pass on costs of their outdated, inefficient coal plants to consumers as sited in case # 14-1297-EL-SSO before the PUCO. Where is accountability? First, why continue to run excessively polluting sources of power? Shouldn't these power companies have already cleaned up – pollution scrubbing technology was created in the USA, have they not had opportunities to make improvements and / or replacements with profits already banked? If we bailout these same companies from costs they should have already incurred – how confident are we that the plants will be updated and pollution decrease? We are not convinced any meaningful updates or pollution reductions will occur. We are getting a very bad deal suggesting to kick the can down the road, letting the next generation deal with a mess that should have already been addressed by these companies. There are great improvements engineered by US companies to make efficient power transmission lines, reducing typical losses from where the power is produced to where the power is used. Unfortunately, China and India are their biggest customers – USA has not seriously committed itself to improving our power grid – making a smart grid.

Leave the world a better place,

Dear ~~Governor~~:

The utility companies in Ohio, who we all know finance political campaigns, are now at your door with their requests; but it is time you lead them into our future and not let them hold us to the past. Their coal plants are notorious polluters. We have the technology to produce clean energy, and we can move to increase our reliance on renewable energy. You've chosen instead to drive renewables out of Ohio first with a two year freeze and now with a proposed "indefinite freeze" on clean energy standards. The reason you gave for the two year freeze was that it would be too costly for the consumer, but now you and the PUCO are considering raising consumer costs to keep polluting coal plants profitable.

Surely as a presidential candidate you are aware of the effects of global warming and of the upcoming United Nations Climate Change Conference to be held in Paris beginning November 30. Do you and the utilities of Ohio still want to drag us backwards? Deny the utilities requests to raise rates on the consumer now in order to keep inefficient coal plants going.

Dear PUCO,

Clean energy is important to Ohio, and more specifically my family. We care about stopping the energy bailout. We care about reducing Ohio's dependence on coal for electricity. We care about our lakes and rivers and the levels of mercury and other pollutants that result from the use of old, polluting technology.

Sincerely,

Greetings,

I'm sure you have someone to read these for your company, but a greeting is simply customary if not outdated. I am writing you in regards to case number 14-1297-EL-SSC for FirstEnergy, stopping the FirstEnergy bailout. Duke Energy, AEP & FirstEnergy along with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio (PUCO) are currently attempting to shift the cost of their outdated coal plants to consumers like me & my family. Not only do I oppose the increased cost for non optimized energy sources, I equally oppose the detrimental effects this would have on the environment.

If we are to move forward as a society we must optimize our energy sources with an eye for the future, & not shackle ourselves to outdated & environmentally damaging sources. I would request that ~~we~~ we should deny the rate increase asked by these groups as they constitute a shameless attempt to lock us consumers into buying power from outdated & environmentally damaging coal plants. My family cares about reducing toxic pollution in any way we can, as well as saving money on our electric bill.

This bailout of antiquated & pollution based technology would not benefit Ohio families rather it would only benefit utility shareholders & would only serve to delay the inevitable investment in efficiency & renewable resources in energy.

Dear Commissioners:

As a citizen concerned about improving the quality of air we breath I am urging you to reject the request from First Energy to pass on to consumers the cost of continuing to generate electricity at outdated and inefficient coal fired plants. I am especially incensed that First Energy expects consumers to pay higher rates than those negotiated by the towns and villages we live in. If First Energy wants our business they and their shareholders should find ways to upgrade their plants or build more environmentally friendly ones.

Thanks you for your consideration in this matter.

Dear Commissioners,

I am writing with regard to case numbers 14-1297-EL-SSO and 14-1693-EL-SSO.

Please deny the rate increase to lock consumers into buying power from Ohio's oldest, dirtiest coal plants. I oppose an "indefinite freeze" of our clean energy standards. Please move Ohio forward. A bailout of old, polluting technology only benefits utility shareholders and delays investment in efficient and renewable energy sources.

Dear Commission Members,

Ohio needs to invest in the future and encourage development of renewable energy.

I urge you to stop the First Energy Bailout. Free markets know best. Allow the energy markets created through deregulation in 1999 to operate unfettered and without government interference. It is time for these antiquated and inefficient coal fired power plants to be retired.

New investments in more efficient energy generation capacity and renewable energy will help stimulate the regional economy.

I encourage you to act in the interests of Ohio's citizens and not the special interests by denying appeal of the defeated bailout. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Michael Tryby

Re: First Energy Case # 14-1297-EL-SSO

I want to express my opposition to a rate increase to consumers to cover operating costs of outdated power plants. Companies through competition should strive to provide a service at a competitive price and to produce energy in the most efficient manner, both from a financial standpoint and an environmental one.. Consumers should not have to support the inefficiencies of these companies. We as consumers cannot live without energy and because of this we need you to support us in holding down the costs.

Respectfully,

John Fleming

To the Members of PUCO,

I'm writing in regards to our state's out-dated power plants. My family cares about the environment, but we're also interested in reasonable power rates. It's time to end this indefinite freeze of our clean energy standards.

Bailing out the old, dirty plants only delays our inevitable need to convert to cleaner renewable sources of energy. This investment only benefits the utility shareholder, while my kids continue to breath some of the dirtiest air in the country.

I'm asking that you take in to consideration our need for better, cleaner, and more efficient power in your actions regarding cases- 14-1693-EL-SSO and 14-1297-EL-SSO.

Thanks for your consideration. It would be a great legacy for you to begin to move the state forward in this regard.

Sincerely,

Why should a bailout of your old, technology benefit only utility shareholders and delays inevitable investment in efficiency and renewable energy. These benefits should be for the public who has been paying your high dollar amounts. Your shareholders are worse than your company. They stand by and watch you drain the lives of people who just want to make a life for their families. You take their lives for granted, actually you steal the pennies people earn instead of helping your fellow man.

Dear Members of PUCO:

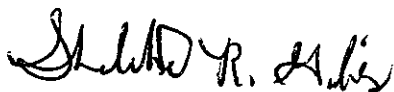

This missive is in regards to case # 14-1297-EL-SSO.

It is to my understanding that Ohio ranks third in the nation for polluted air. This is one record that we no longer need to hold. I ask the five of you to deny the rate increase set forth by the combined forces of Duke Energy, AEP, and First Energy. Such a bailout would not only embrace Ohio's oldest, dirtiest polluting technology but in turn, the customer would pay for it financially.

Renewable energy is the promise of the future and the time to invest in the future is now. Put an end to outdated and inefficient coal plants. These antiquated methods of energy utilization merely strong arm the consumer into putting more dollars into the pockets of utility companies.

We are counting on you to stand the ground for us, for yourself, and both of our generations to come.

Please deny the rate of increase to lock consumers into buying power from Ohio's oldest, dirtiest coal plans.

Please oppose an "indefinite freeze" of our clean energy standards.

A Bailout of old, polluting technology only benefits utility shareholders and delays investment in efficiency and renewable energy.

My family and I care about reducing toxic pollution and saving money on our electric bills.

Reducing our dependence on coal for electricity reduces mercury and other contamination from polluting drinking water from Lake Erie and the Ohio River.

Limiting pollution to our air and water leads to fewer deaths and sicknesses for everyone, inside and outside Ohio.

Dear PUCO Commissioners,

I was just informed about the amount of toxic pollution that the coal plants in Ohio produced. My family would like to reduce this pollution as much as possible. It came to my attention that Duke Energy, AEP and First Energy filed proposals with PUCO to get permission to raise consumer rates and use the profits to cover the costs of their outdated and inefficient coal plants. These energy companies want to shift the cost of these outdated coal plants to consumers.

The bailout of old polluting technology only benefits utility shareholders and delays inevitable investment in efficiency and renewable energy.

Please do not approve these proposals from the energy companies.

Our family cares about environment;
water & air. We would like to see reduction in toxic pollution in any way possible. The energy utilities need to update their facilities at their own cost and not to ask customers to pay for the cost with increasing rates.

We are glad that Duke Energy's request for bailout was denied.
So we want to "stop the 'First Energy bailout" too.

To Whom It May Concern,

I am opposed to bailouts of polluting technology enterprises that only benefits the few. Rather, I support the issue put forth by the Ohio Citizen Action that opposes rate increases for power produced by Ohio's dirty coal plants.

It is time to reduce toxic pollution and time to focus on clean energy- solar and wind--in the state of Ohio.

I care about this issue because pollution is a root cause of many of our health issues, especially in our children.

Your action is essential to the expansion of renewable energy in our state.

Yours truly,
