To Whom It May Concern:

This year, on October 21, was the day that Marty McFly traveled to in Back to the Future, and I'm glad it is a work of fiction, or else he would be very disappointed by the state of things. They expected us to have flying cars and hoverboards by now, and yet we're still sitting here burning old rocks just to keep warm. Don't you think it's time to move into the future?

Reducing our dependence on coal for electricity reduces mercury and other contamination from polluting drinking water from Lake Erie and the Ohio River. Please deny the rate increase to lock into buying power from Ohio's oldest, dirtiest coal plants. Please oppose an "indefinite freeze" of our clean energy standards. A bailout of old, polluting technology only benefits utility shareholders and delays investments in efficiency and renewable energy.

Re: Ending the Freeze on Ohio's Clean Energy Standards

Dear Commissioners,

As a concerned citizen, my family and I know the importance of reducing toxic pollution and our dependence on coal for electricity. We must move forward and instead of "bailing out" the old technologies, we must invest in new technologies. This will not only help the citizens of our state but also bring jobs to Ohio as we pursue new and inventive ways to make electricity.

Please oppose an "indefinite freeze" of our clean energy standards. It is important that our Ohio utilities, who should be working for the good of all the citizens, not just their shareholders, look at new investments of efficient and renewable energy. You, as the Public Utilities Commissioners, should be representing the people and doing what is right for the citizens and the state of Ohio.

Please end the Freeze on Ohio's Clean Energy Standards and move towards a better, cleaner future for Ohio.

Sincerely,

Dear Sir or Madam:

As an Ohio voter, I ask that you deny the utility rate increases that subsidize the most inefficient coal burning plants in Ohio (14-1297-EL-SSO) and to end the freeze on clean energy standards (14-1693-EL-SSO). I and my family care about reducing pollution while increasing our energy independence.

Members of the Board:

My family and I are concerned about the continuation of locking Ohio consumers into buying power from Ohio's oldest and dirtiest coal plans. As we move forward in Ohio we do not need to be freezing the clean energy standards that can help us keep our air and water from polluting practices which have and will endanger our vital resources.

We strongly oppose the bailout of old, polluting technology which only benefit the shareholders and delay research and investment in more efficient and renewable energy production. Reducing our dependence on coal for electricity also reduces the contamination of our lakes and rivers from mercury and other pollutants which are a by-product of the current plants.

Respectfully

Clean air to breathe and clean water to drink is not a trivial thing. Progress is great, but damaging the present and possibly destroying the future is not progress; it is opportunistic profit-seeking.

This country is a big place filled lots of hardworking people. It is not hard to do something that is not the right thing to do without it getting noticed. That doesn't make it right.

Many of us living in this country want to hand over to our children, grand-children, great-grand children the best world possible, even though there is a strong likelihood we won't be around to see it.

It matters how we all do what we do in this country and in this world. If anyone has the ability not to damage this planet, they should not have to be forced into doing it. Please do everything you can not to destroy the only planet we have.

These are the talking points that were suggested that I should address:

- *Please deny the rate increase to lock consumers into buying power from Ohio's oldest, dirtiest coal plants

- *Please oppose an "indefinite freeze" of our clean energy standards

- *A bailout of old, polluting technology only benefits utility shareholders and delays investment in efficiency and renewable energy

- *My family and I care about reducing toxic pollution and saving money on our electric bills

- *Reducing our dependence on coal for electricity reduces mercury and other contamination from polluting drinking water from Lake Erie and the Ohio River

- *Limiting pollution to our air and water leads to fewer deaths and sickness for everyone, inside and outside Ohio.

Even though these are talking points, they are points deserving of both consideration and a valid response. Please look to your heart and do what you believe is the right thing to do.

Commissioners Porter, Haque, Slaby, Trombold & Johnson,

I am opposed to the current freeze of Ohio clean energy standards and ask that you discontinue the freeze immediately.

Global warming poses a very real and growing threat to U.S. national security and ultimately to human civilization. Ohio, with resources that exceed those of many nations, is in a position to significantly change the course of human history for the better of all of us. The actions that you choose to take, or not to take, will impact us all. Ohio clean energy standards must be renewed and further strengthened. It is only a small part of what must be done to make Ohio a better place to live, work and play.

To whom it may concern:

I am writing you because I am concerned about the proposals filed by First Energy and AEP. I am concerned because they appear to want to put off an inevitable switch to renewable energy at the expense of their customers. Rejecting their proposals and reducing our dependence on coal for electricity holds many benefits. We can reduce the mercury pollution going into Ohio's drinking water. We can limit the air pollution affecting the air of Ohio and its neighbors. We can encourage investment in renewable energy, which can transform entire local economies - just look at California.

The energy companies are looking to raise energy rates in order to cover the costs of their old power plants in the name of a short-term profit. I encourage you to oppose these rate increases, as well as the "indefinite freeze" on Ohio's clean energy standards. We can lead the nation - but we have to do it purposefully. The first step is rejecting the proposals referred to above.

Dear PUCO

I am so concerned about the lack of progress our state and our nation has made over the last 40 years in regards to clean energy standards, reducing air and water pollution and reducing our dependence on coal and oil. Please end the freeze on our clean energy standards.

In the past, our nation has proudly lead the world. After traveling throughout the South Pacific and Europe, I believe we have fallen so far behind in the creation and usage of non-fossil fuel sources of energy.

Please move forward in protecting our environment and let's become a leader again.
