To PUCO

I recently read that my power company Dayton Power and Light is asking for another big jump in energy use.

I say big because my home is all electric and my bills are already huge.

Im 71 years young and have been hit since retirement with a callaspe of our system as far as doing everything I was told to do with IRA 401k etc. A huge amount of which has been lost.

On top of that General Motors filed bankruptcy and no longer provides a helping hand after 30 years of service.

Sharp inflation increases have devauled my meager earnings.

I do not believe DPL deserves this large increase at this time.

Its shareholders should satisfied with what they are getting.

Thank you for denying this increase.
