Secretary to the Commission
Docketing Division
180 East Broad Street, 11th Floor
Columbus, OH 43215

Dear Secretary:

On December 28, 2015, PJM Interconnection ("PJM") filed both a Motion for Limited Intervention and a Memorandum in Support, as well as the Testimony of F. Stuart Bresler in the above-captioned proceeding. On that same date, PJM served the parties of record with both the motion and the testimony. Due to an administrative or clerical error, Mr. Bresler's testimony shows only as a source filing in the Docketing Division. I am resubmitting Mr. Bresler's testimony, as of December 28, to address that administrative/clerical error.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Evelyn R. Robinson

THE PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION OF OHIO
DIRECT TESTIMONY OF F. Stuart Bresler, III
ON BEHALF OF
PJM INTERCONNECTION

Q. STATE YOUR NAME AND POSITION AT PJM.

A. My name is F. Stuart Bresler, III, and I am Senior Vice President of Markets at PJM. In that role, I am responsible for all aspects of PJM's market operations, including the RPM capacity market, the Financial Transmission Rights markets, the Day-ahead and Real Time energy markets, and the Ancillary Service markets. I am also responsible for PJM's market evolution area, including renewable resource integration, Demand Response operations and distributed energy resource integration, and the Generation Attribute Tracking System used by many PJM states to ensure compliance with state renewable portfolio standards.

Q Please describe your educational background and relevant work experience.

A. I earned a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering and a Master of Management in Business Administration from The Pennsylvania State University, and am a licensed professional engineer in the state of Pennsylvania.

I have been involved with bulk power system operations and the development and implementation of electricity markets for capacity, energy, transmission rights and ancillary services for over 20 years. In addition, I have been responsible for the development and implementation of programs designed to incorporate demand-side resources into PJM markets and operations, as well as the systems and market design development necessary to support the expansion of the PJM markets, and the coordination of those markets and operations with those of surrounding balancing authorities and regional transmission organizations.

1 Q. Have you ever testified before any regulatory agencies?

2 A. Yes. I have submitted testimony to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, and have also 3 testified in front of other state utility commissions, including the Illinois Commerce Commission and 4 the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

5 Q. What is PJM Interconnection?

6 A. PJM is an independent regional transmission organization ("RTO") that operates the bulk power 7 system and wholesale power markets in an area that comprises all or portions of Delaware, the 8 District of Columbia, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, North Carolina, 9 Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia. The PJM area includes the service 10 territory of AEP Ohio.

11 Q. WHAT IS THE PURPOSE OF YOUR TESTIMONY?

12 A. My testimony is limited to addressing necessary clarifications regarding the intent of Paragraph 13 III.A(5)(a) of the Stipulation, which states:

14 "AEP Ohio agrees to participate in annual compliance reviews before the Commission to 15 ensure that actions taken by the Company when selling the output from generation units 16 included in the PPA Rider into the PJM market were not unreasonable. AEP Ohio, not its 17 customers, would be responsible for the adjustments made to the PPA Rider based on 18 actions deemed unreasonable by the Commission, including any costs (after proper 19 consideration of such costs and netting of any bonus payments) associated with 20 performance requirements in PJM's markets. Any determination that the costs and 21 revenues included in the PPA Rider are unreasonable shall be made in light of the facts 22 and circumstances known at the time such costs were committed and market revenues 23 were received. In addition, the calculation of PPA Rider will be based on the sale of power 24 into PJM."

1 Q. PLEASE EXPLAIN WHAT ASPECTS OF THE PROVISION SHOULD BE CLARIFIED?

2 A. This particular provision directly references AEP's bidding practices into PJM's markets without 3 providing any additional clarity on what would constitute "reasonable" vs. "unreasonable" actions 4 taken by AEP "when selling the output from generation units included in the PPA Rider into the 5 PJM market." However, the consequences of an "unreasonable" determination by the Commission 6 are severe---the Stipulation provides for the ability of the Commission to make unspecified 7 "adjustments" to PPA Rider "based on actions deemed unreasonable by the Commission".

8
9 PJM wishes to provide an explanation of a reasonable interpretation of this provision and in doing 10 so, provide a degree of guidance on how it should be implemented in the future by AEP Ohio in 11 bidding into the PJM markets. Such guidance would be helpful for all market participants and 12 provide stability to head off potential uncertainty and litigation as to future AEP bidding practices 13 relative to these units. And, in the larger sense, these clarifications, with the Ohio Commission's 14 support, will provide guidance to AEP Ohio and will help the Commission to reconcile 15 implementation of the Stipulation with Ohio's other stated goal of using the competitive markets as 16 the principal means to incent and attract needed new investment so as to meet Ohio's future 17 economic development needs.

18
19 Ohio's policy goal includes utilizing competitive wholesale markets as a means to attract and incent 20 needed new investment. I note a recent statement from Chairman Porter stating: "I can tell you the 21 existing structure has, in my view, led to competitive results for residential, commercial and 22 industrial customers in the state".

1 I have been advised by counsel that the Commission has, in the past, provided clarifications on the 2 meaning of terms in stipulations submitted to it. Given the broad nature of this language, and the 3 potential impact on both attracting new investment in Ohio and on the overall competitiveness of 4 the PJM marketplace associated with how this stipulation is implemented (if, in fact, it is approved), 5 PJM believes it would be appropriate for the Commission to provide such guidance in its Order in 6 this case should the Commission be inclined to approve the Stipulation.

7 Q. CAN YOU FURTHER EXPLAIN THE NATURE OF THIS CLARIFICATION?

8 A. By its terms, Paragraph III.A(5)(a) contemplates an after-the-fact prudence-type review by the Ohio 9 Commission of, among other things, the sale of the output of the generators covered by the PPA 10 Rider. PJM is not suggesting that this clarification should empower the Ohio Commission to 11 oversee, in real time, AEP's day- to-day bidding actions. Rather, the clarification is suggested as a 12 means for the Ohio Commission to provide guidance to all parties as to the PUCO's expectations
13 in implementing the oversight authority that AEP and the other signatory parties have encouraged 14 the PUCO to undertake through Paragraph III.A(5)(a).

15 Q. DOES PJM SUPPORT OR OPPOSE THE STIPULATION?

16 A. My testimony is limited to addressing the above referenced provision and addressing needed 17 clarification as to the intent of the language of this section. PJM limits its testimony to this provision 18 since this is the only provision which directly ties the PPA Rider to AEP actions in the PJM markets 19 and puts revenues received under the Rider at risk based on the company's actions in bidding the 20 units into the PJM markets. This provision, more than any other in the stipulation, has the potential 21 to impact the PJM marketplace as a whole and the marketplace in Ohio for new investment 22 depending on how the provision is implemented. Moreover, since the PJM marketplace remains 23 the primary vehicle which the PUCO has stated that it intends to utilize to attract and incent new

1 generation resources, how this provision is implemented is critically important to whether those 2 Ohio-specific goals can effectively be achieved.

3
4 For these reasons, PJM does not take a position on the Stipulation as a whole but does believe 5 that appropriate implementation of the above-referenced provision is important in order to prevent 6 the PPA Rider from impeding the competitive operation of PJM's markets and potentially defeating 7 Ohio's interest in having PJM's markets continue to attract new investment into Ohio.

8 Q. WOULD THE COMMISSION'S PROVIDING GUIDANCE AS TO HOW IT INTERPRETS THIS 9 PROVISION LIMIT THE COMMISSION'S FUTURE DISCRETION?

10 A. Not at all, and in fact, my testimony sets out PJM's position about how this PPA, if it is approved, 11 can be incorporated into the PJM market in a manner which will continue to meet Ohio's objectives 12 in attracting new investment and thus provides helpful guidance to AEP Ohio, the PUCO and all 13 market participants. I have set forth below some clarifying language that we would ask the 14 Commission to embody in its final Order to better support efforts to maintain robust markets and 15 harmonize the PPA with the need for healthy competitive markets in Ohio and the greater PJM 16 region. This clarification need not represent the totality of issues the Commission might address in 17 reviewing the Company's bidding practices in its annual reviews. But failure to provide any 18 guidance to the parties would create significant market uncertainty and potentially embroil the 19 Commission and AEP in litigation brought by other market participants both at the Commission and 20 FERC. Ohio has a unique opportunity through a clarification, such as I suggest below, to 21 harmonize its interest in healthy competitive markets with the language of this Stipulation.

22
23 For all these reasons, in the event the Commission is inclined to approve the Stipulation, the 24 Commission's providing the guidance outlined below would serve to ensure that Ohio can continue

1 to attract investment in new generation and otherwise help to address some of the market and 2 competitive investment uncertainties which the stipulation has triggered.

3 Q. WHAT OVERALL GUIDANCE AND INTERPRETIVE LANGUAGE DOES PJM SUGGEST BE 4 INCLUDED IN THE COMMISSION'S ORDER IN THIS CASE?

5 A. Without taking a position on whether the Commission should adopt the Stipulation, should it do so, 6 PJM believes that, the Commission should clarify that for purposes of the PUCO reasonableness
7 reviews undertaken pursuant to Paragraph III.A(5)(a), it should be considered a reasonable 8 bidding practice for the units covered by the PPA to bid into PJM's markets no lower than their 9 actual costs consistent with how the term "costs" is defined in the PJM Tariff and Manuals without 10 consideration of the offsetting revenues to be provided by Ohio retail customers through the PPA 11 Rider.

12
13 Bidding at actual cost, consistent with the definition of acceptable costs included in the PJM Tariff 14 and Manuals and ensures that the PPA does not have the effect of artificially suppressing prices in 15 any of PJM's markets. Accordingly, I recommend that the Commission include the following 16 clarification in any Order approving the Stipulation should the Commission move in that direction:

17 "In determining the reasonableness of the Company's actions when selling the output from 18 generation units included in the PPA Rider into the PJM markets pursuant to Paragraph 19 III.A(5)(a) of the Stipulation, the Commission expects AEP Ohio to bid the units in 20 accordance with applicable law and, based on the testimony of PJM which oversees those 21 wholesale markets, will consider as reasonable for purposes of retail cost recovery bidding 22 of the units covered by the PPA rider at their actual cost, as those terms are defined in the 23 PJM Tariff and Manuals. Bidding at actual cost, as those terms are defined in the PJM 24 Tariff and Manuals will also help to ensure, as testified to by PJM, that the Company's

1 actions under the PPA Rider do not create a disincentive to investment in new generation 2 and retention of existing generation for all market participants seeking to invest in 3 generation or demand side resources in Ohio.”

4 Q. DO YOU RECOMMEND ANY FURTHER CLARIFICATIONS REGARDING PARAGRAPH 5 III.A(5)(a) OF THE STIPULATION?

6 A. Yes. PJM recently has enhanced its capacity market, with the Commission’s support, by 7 introducing performance assessment charges that incentivize unit owners to invest in the 8 maintenance of their capacity resources. Additionally, I would recommend the Commission Order 9 make clear where the risk of unit non-performance lies during the term of the PPAs, as between 10 the generation owner or the customers.

11 Q. WHY ARE SUCH CLARIFICATIONS IN OHIO’S INTERESTS?

12 A. The needs of AEP’s customers cannot be served wholly from the output of the units covered by the 13 PPA. In fact, the units covered by the PPA together total substantially less than the total AEP Ohio 14 peak load of approximately 10,500 MW. Although one could claim that the workings of the PPA 15 Rider argues for the PUCO allowing these particular units to bid below their costs, to the extent this 16 has a repressive effect on prices, new generation resources,(which will be critical to meeting 17 Ohio's future needs and economic development) will be discouraged from investing in Ohio. The 18 impacts of that disincentive to new investment for Ohio far outweigh the short term gain that may 19 be realized by customers from below cost bidding and guaranteed clearing by this particular narrow 20 subset of the AEP generation fleet. As a result, it is appropriate for the PUCO to recognize in any 21 Order approving the Stipulation: (1) that its interests in a healthy competitive wholesale market 22 with prices that accurately reflect going forward costs of competing units has not changed as a 23 result of the Stipulation; and (2) that in reviewing the “reasonableness” of AEP’s bidding practices

1 the PUCO will consider whether AEP's actions are complementing that goal or working counter to 2 it.

3 Q. THERE IS NO MINIMUM OFFER PRICING RULE ("MOPR") FOR EXISTING UNITS. WHY THEN 4 SHOULD THE PUCO FIND THAT "REASONABLE ACTIONS" BY AEP FOR THESE UNITS
5 INCLUDES COST-BASED BIDDING?

6 A. It is true that presently there is no MOPR applicable to existing units or for that matter any coal or 7 nuclear units. However, that does not mean that clarification of the term "unreasonable actions" 8 associated with bidding as that term is used in this Stipulation is inappropriate. There are several 9 reasons why such a clarification is appropriate notwithstanding the present PJM market rules:

10 1. Although there is no MOPR for existing resources, the issues raised by the Stipulation are 11 issues which have not previously arisen in this form. The present PJM MOPR provisions 12 were developed out of a concern (supported by the PUCO) that out of market subsidies 13 could have a repressive impact on prices. Although based on the circumstances before 14 PJM at the time, it appeared that the incentives to bid below cost was limited to new units., 15 I could well envision market participants arguing that similar incentives for below cost 16 pricing exist for the units at question in this case. Although PJM is not speculating on what 17 specific challenges might be brought by market participants before FERC to extend the 18 MOPR in light of the Stipulation, the mere fact that today's MOPR does not extend to 19 existing units should not be dispositive of the need for clarification of Paragraph III.A(5)(a) 20 of the Stipulation especially given its extended eight year term and the fact that this 21 provision relates to the Ohio Commission's review of AEP's actions in bidding the units into 22 the PJM market.

23 2. More importantly, what is before this Commission is a provision of an Ohio stipulation 24 which directs an oversight role by the Ohio Commission over AEP's bidding practices for

1 these units for purposes of retail cost recovery. The Ohio Commission Staff, with AEP's 2 consent, has reserved to itself a role to ensure "reasonable" bidding [practices] of the AEP 3 generation owners and included a heavy hammer should the Commission deem future 4 bidding actions unreasonable. If the drafters of the Stipulation were intending to say, 5 through this provision, that the AEP generation owners should simply "follow PJM rules", 6 there would have been no need to include the broad language of Section 5a and its 7 powerful remedy.¹ Clearly the drafters of the Stipulation meant something more by adding 8 the "reasonableness" standard of review and the heavy sanctions set forth in Paragraph 9 III.A(5)(a).

10 Given this section of the Stipulation, the relevant question in this proceeding is not what today's 11 PJM rules might allow but rather, from a PUCO perspective, how can this new specific reservation 12 of PUCO authority be exercised in a manner which harmonizes the provisions of this Stipulation 13 with Ohio's other stated goal of wishing to use the wholesale competitive market to attract new 14 generation investment into the state. PJM believes that the PUCO has a unique opportunity to 15 reconcile these goals in its Order in this case and urges the Commission to do so, should it decide 16 to approve the Stipulation, along the lines outlined above, to avoid ambiguity, controversy and 17 litigation that could distract from Ohio meeting those goals.

18 Q. IN SUMMARY, WHY SHOULD THE PUCO MAKE THE REQUESTED CLARIFICATIONS IN ITS 19 ORDER NOW SHOULD IT DECIDE TO ADOPT THE STIPULATION?

20 A. The point of my testimony is that Ohio has within its hands, through a simple clarification and 21 explanation in its Order, an opportunity to potentially mitigate adverse impacts that the stipulation 22 might have on attracting merchant generation in the state and on the competitiveness of the 23 wholesale market. By making the clarification requested by PJM (should the Commission choose

¹ Following PJM's existing rules is already required of all generation owners.

1 to adopt the stipulation), much uncertainty and litigation could potentially be headed off and the 2 provisions of the Stipulation given effect in a way which is supportive of Ohio's stated goal of using 3 the competitive market to attract efficient competitive investment in the state. .

4 Q. DOES THAT CONCLUDE YOUR TESTIMONY?

5 A. Yes.
