COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

We are moving from Atlanta GA to delaware next week. I was dismayed when I read the article in last week's columbus dispatch about how condo builders are allowed to set themselves up as middle men between their condo community residents and the electric companies, thus offering no free choice for the residents, often on fixed incomes, to shop for the electric company that fits their needs and resources. As a recent councilwoman for the city of Clarkston, Ga, i understand the political games that are played. I hope you will lobby for the rights of these residents to choose a electricity vendor as they are able to do for their gas vendor. Please contact me so we can detent a strategy moving forward. Thank you, Dianne Leonetti, 5 Greenhedge Circle, as of January 15.
