To whom it may concern:

A young man came to my door today asking me to write a letter pertaining to your bailout of First Energy and other energy companies. There are numerous reasons to disagree with this; namely that coal is an ancient, dirty way to generate electricity and that taxpayers should not support aging power plants (Davis-Besse) that are past their prime. The citizens of Ohio are just now beginning to enjoy the economic recovery since the crash of 2008; adding higher energy bills to their budgets would be damaging to what is left of our middle class, and especially difficult for lower income households that struggle daily to make ends meet. Please make the right economic and environmental choices and do not bailout these companies.

Thank you,

Jennifer McCauley

Gentlemen PUCO

With reference to the rate case of First Energy for an increase, I wish to register a "NO" vote.

I pay Ohio Edison monthly for services that they should all ready be providing which are listed in their TV "Commercial"

As a 89 year-old, I need my dollar worse than they do.

If Ohio Edison wishes to save a few cents, they should rid themselves of Nelson Tree Service, who is a threaten to the environment by destroying trees, with no apparent benefit.

Thank-you

Respectfully submitted,
Robert B. Rich

Dear Commissioners,

Please deny the rate increase to lock consumers into buying power from Ohio's oldest and most inefficient coal plants.

A bailout of these high polluting facilities only delays inevitable investment in efficient and renewable energy and only benefits the shareholders.

As a fisherman and outdoorsman, I care about reducing toxic pollution and saving money.

Sincerely,

Roger Principe
