COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

I'm a student at UC Blue Ash, majoring in Environmental Studies. I'm fully aware of the damage done due to fracking for natural gas. The bottom line is - pipelines crack. Pipelines leak. Natural gas leeching into the ground water directly over a college in which many underprivileged teens/young adults attend is not a good thing. UC Blue Ash students would be happy to be a host of a renewable energy project- something that doesn't involve digging up the ground, destroying mature trees, just to install a pipeline that has the risk of rupture. Rethink your decision.
