Subject: Cincinnati Pipeline project

To whom it may concern:

I recently relocated from living in the city of Chicago and was overjoyed to be welcomed into, what appeared to be, a thriving Cincinnati community. The house we purchased (within city limits) is (and was) our dream home – with beautiful old trees, a walkable neighborhood, and an overall good vibe. Recently I have learned about the proposed pipeline project and am terrified for what this means for me. While I can survive with house prices dropping due to this proposed plan (I mean I did purchase at the top of the market and sell at the bottom in Chicago), what I am not willing to stand for is the potential for my children to be put at risk based on:

- Frequency of US Pipeline 'Serious Incidents' (with fatalities) in last 20 years averages 43 per year)
- Frequency of US Pipeline 'Significant Incidents' (major incidents) in last 20 years averages 283 per year
- Any 'Blast Zone' from a Pipeline failure extends 0.4 miles from the failure

While I am not in the direct path, I firmly recognize I am in .4 miles of the path and this could be disastrous for this neighborhood I have come to call home. Please add my name to the list of STRONGLY OPPOSING this pipeline expansion.

Thanks,
Megan Jones
