Subject: Re: Duke Energy Central Corridor Pipeline Question & Event

I would like to add that in this day and age, we can no longer only consider the possibility of an accident occurring (and its projected impact). We also, unfortunately, need to think about whether someone might intentionally use this high-pressure pipeline to cause considerable harm to hundreds of residents. Please eliminate that possibility by routing this through a rural area, or denying the project all together.

Thanks,
Desiree Johnson
