To whom it may concern, I live in Cincinnati, Hamilton County. I have recently learned about Duke's plans to install pipeline to transport natural gas to other states. As a resident of Blue Ash and concerned community member, I want to express my concern for this project. I am first deeply disappointed in Duke's communications and lack of direct honesty in this plan. Secondly, I am very concerned for the safety of my friends, family and neighbors as it relates to the location of said pipeline. I feel very strongly that this should run through very rural areas that are not highly populated - more importantly not near schools. Why would we want this in a growing area where Blue Ash is going out of their way to draw more people into the area?

While things are critical there are several non-critical factors that come into play, including potential liabilities by homeowners and the need to disclose this. If we do not have a choice in this matter, I do not want it near my property nor my schools. This will be a huge property value loss and costly.

Thank you,

Ali Margello
