COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

Marty Deidesheimer Garcia June 21, 2016 2428 St. Albans Ave., Cincinnati, OH 45237 513-787-9364 middlesismartha@gmail.com Hello! I am writing to express my concern about the Duke Energy Planned Pipeline Extension which may soon be routed through Cincinnati neighborhoods. As a parent and teacher, I am outraged that this could be considered in areas where our children play, learn, walk to school, the library, pre-schools, and especially where we live. If we cannot be secure in our own homes from the Duke corporation using the cheapest, most expedient route for gas that may not even be for our service area, how can we find life, and happiness as guaranteed by the Constitution? We might ask if any Duke executives' homes will be along the pipeline route. Will they come forward and say so? This is what the current people-power movements represented by waves of support for populist presidential candidates are about. We, the "little guys" who feel stepped-on, and with justification! We are teachers, students, retirees, grandparents, service workers, truck drivers, and factory workers. We have strived our whole lives to make a decent home for our families. One pipeline accident could wipe out the lifetime work of many of us. We will put that experience of hard work and grit into stopping this pipeline from being constructed where we humans make our lives. I respectfully request that this pipeline be routed in an area of low population concentration. Marty Deidesheimer Garcia
