I am a resident and small business owner in Pleasant Ridge, Cincinnati. I am writing to record my opposition to the Central Corridor Gas Pipeline Extension Project. I have studied the materials & attended a Duke public meetings with my questions. I am convinced this project would pose a serious threat to the safety of the citizens of Cincinnati and Hamilton County. I have yet to hear Duke justify a pipeline to serve 2,000,000 households when it presently all the households in this corner of the state – less than 500,000. Where would all this supply be going? And even if there is justification for the pipeline, why did the computer model used to pick these routes not value proximity to homes, schools and hospitals as a route to be avoided? Why are no routes suggested that lie in rural areas? It is my belief these questions need to be posed and answered. Considering the catastrophic outcomes which have occurred in gas pipeline explosions, for the safety of the citizens of Ohio, this project as presently proposed needs to be rejected.

Thank you,

Clare
