Dear Commissioner Johnson,

New, clean, natural gas plants are providing alternatives to old, inefficient plants that AEP and FirstEnergy want consumers to subsidize with rate increases. The utility companies have threatened plant shut-downs and warned that consumers and businesses will no longer have a reliable power supply, if they don't get handouts paid for by consumers. But Ohio's power grid operator and multiple experts have said that Ohio has plenty of power generation for the future.

Don't fall for utility scare tactics! Please Tell the PUCO to say "no" to the utility handouts and "yes" to cheaper natural gas to fuel Ohio's future.

Subject: Ignore utility companies' scare tactics

Dear Commissioner Johnson,

New, clean, natural gas plants are providing alternatives to old, inefficient plants that AEP and FirstEnergy want consumers to subsidize with rate increases. The utility companies have threatened plant shut-downs and warned that consumers and businesses will no longer have a reliable power supply, if they don't get handouts paid for by consumers. But Ohio's power grid operator and multiple experts have said that Ohio has plenty of power generation for the future.

Don't fall for utility scare tactics! Please Tell the PUCO to say "no" to the utility handouts and "yes" to cheaper natural gas to fuel Ohio's future.

Dear Commissioner Johnson,

I am a customer of, and a stockholder in, First Energy Corporation. I feel that a rate hike would be bad for the company (First Energy), the community, and the economy. I am a (retired) engineer and have a difficult time reconciling my monthly bill. Yes, I can figure out the billing and am willing to bet that I am among the few that can. The management must see to it that the facilities losing money should be modified or closed. Just pouring money into the coffers of the company will not accomplish anything.

The management of FE is, and has been, so negligent that the stockholders, like me, have seen a decrease in dividends and a gross reduction in capital appreciation. All the while the electric rates increase.

Dear Commissioner Johnson,

AEP and FirstEnergy are trying to hijack Ohioans' electric bills and demand billions of dollars in ransom from Ohio consumers to prop up their old power plants that they claim are losing money. I shouldn't have to pay extra charges to subsidize utility companies when I get no benefit in return.

Please protect hard-working Ohioans, seniors on fixed incomes, and small business owners from ridiculous and totally unnecessary rate hikes. Please tell the PUCO to put a stop to this corporate welfare.

Subject: Pull the Plug on FirstEnergy Handout

Dear Commissioner Johnson,

I ask PUCO to reject FirstEnergy's plan to have me subsidize its obsolete power plants. Let's take this opportunity to build an efficient low-cost grid for the twenty-first century.

FirstEnergy says the plants will be low cost again in a couple years. If they really believed that they would be pitching this to their shareholders instead of to PUCO.

It's nice they tried to clean up the flue gas from the coal plant, but it turns out this is just one more demonstration that you can have cheap coal, or clean coal, but you can't have clean cheap coal. And even at not so cheap, it still emits significant amounts of mercury. Shutting this plant down moves the day sooner when we can safely eat fish from downwind watersheds more than once a week, and makes room for higher efficiency plants that emit less CO2.

As for Davis Besse, as a mechanical engineer who consulted for nuclear industry suppliers, I will just say that if Davis Besse has become high cost to operate, given that it is now operating beyond its design life and that everything in the containment structure spent a year or more liberally dusted with boric acid, I find it a wonder that they can operate it at all. In any case it does not have that many more years it can operated, even on the extended license. It's close to shut-down no matter what PUCO does.

How to replace power if these plants go down? Get rid of the Partial Service Tariff (PST). It's purpose is to prevent commercial and industrial customers from installing generation, particularly combined heat and power (CHP). Get rid of that tariff and those customers will replace the generation at no cost to the utilities other customers. I have read FirstEnergy's justification for the PST. It is mathematically wrong, in short, a lie. With significant distributed power, a grid need less spinning reserve, not more, and it needs less long distance transmission capacity, not more.

What the utility may need from PUCO is limited flexibility to adjust rates hourly to encourage its customers to shift demand away from peak hours and to increase (customer) generation during peak hours. In this way the utility and its customers could co-operate to stabilize the grid.

Please stand up for Ohio consumers and tell the PUCO to reject AEP's and FirstEnergy's money grab. There is good reason why old plants and equipment become depreciated. There are twenty-first century technologies waiting to be used if only we have the courage to stop clinging to the past.
