COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

I am contacting you in regards to the high pressure gas line that duke energy wants to run through south western Ohio. I understand in their proposal to your board they do not want to have any more public meetings nor communication this sums up why this is so wrong. If they are unable to even meet with the people, property owners, businessman and cities that they are going to impact how can you even consider allowing them to go further with this. They clearly do not care about us before placing this questionable gas line how in the world can we think they will care at all once they are allowed to go further with the project. Personally I think this is a horrible project to begin with but Duke's desire to not deal with the people they will impact shows not only the kind of company they are but also their complete disregard for their fellow humans. They sure wouldn't want this high pressure line going past their homes or where their children go to school but it is OK for us???? Why make it easier on them they should have to see who they are impacting. Please consider not allowing them to go further with this project.

COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

9/19/2016 I am asking the PUCO to continue to have public hearings on the proposed Duke Pipeline. I live less than 1/2 block from proposed site. There has been scant public input on the scope, danger and lack of need for this pipeline. Within a block there is a huge water tower, elementary school and my own home. Please do not allow this pipeline to be built in a densely residential and industrial area. What has to be done for Duke to stop this? Can you require intense conservation before approving this type of expensive, dangerous and permanently disfiguring pipeline? Conservation support by Duke to individuals and industry could eliminate this need. Duke Energy will not tell me if the gas is going elsewhere, but connecting to pipelines not mentioned, but being pieced together. Also Duke would not tell me the source of the gas. I think it is gas from fracking but they have not told me their sources. Thank you, Kathy H. Kugler

COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

I find it hard to believe that Duke Energy wants to site a gas transmission line of this magnitude in such a heavily populated area. I also wonder why they wouldn't want to interact with the citizens who are affected by this pipeline! Please insist that they meet with the communities affected. Citizens have very little input on matters like these so we must rely on the honesty and transparency of the PUCO.
