COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

As an employer with more than 1000 people located within a very close proximity to the proposed high pressure gas line (see case no. 16-0253-GA-BTX), we are quite concerned about the safety aspects of the proposal. We are potentially investing an additional $100MM in a corporate headquarters within 100 feet or so of the proposed path of this gas line. This office would house another 1000 people. We have seen no safety data and we have been informed this building would be within the blast zone should there be a failure. We are trying to understand the thought behind placing this pipeline in such close proximity to significant population density.
