Public Utilities Commission? What a misnomer. Since when did the 'public' ever enter the conversation. As one of your forgotten consumers I think it is about time you cut the strings with the big utilities and started sewing new ones with those of us desiring to see a positive commitment to renewable energy. Baseless rate increases to solve AEP's problems is not the answer. It seems the only 'renewal' AEP and the PUC appreciate is that of ever increasing rate increases. The rest of the civilized world has read the handwriting on the wall and as with everything else they have and are doing will leave the good old USA behind.

Wake up!

To Whom It May Concern:

I have been a resident of Ohio my entire life and have lived in Columbus for over 50 years. The future of Ohio and the health of our environment depends upon all of us working together to encourage energy efficiency and to clean up aspects of our communities that contribute to waste and pollution. My belief is that your organization is working against its customers by raising service charges. This is objectionable.

AEP should be striving to increase their renewable energy and add programs that focus on energy efficiency. AEP should be forward thinking by looking for new ways to approach the energy needs of the future. Leaders need to be creative thinkers and problem solvers. I am absolutely opposed to the plan by AEP to more than double their service charge to customers.

AEP should be promoting and encouraging its customers to be efficient in their energy use. Increasing customer service charges does the opposite by punishing those who are trying to conserve energy, thereby improving the environment for future generations.

Public Utilities Commission,

I am opposed to AEP's plan to more than double their customer service charge.

AEP is not a non-profit company so they should use their profits to make the necessary fixes to whatever ails them.

Customers, especially the middle class, pay enough for the services we have and should not be expected to help a "for profit" company out of any situation they have gotten themselves into.

Deny AEP's plan and stick up for the working person in this country!!

I disagree with increasing the charge
just to be a customer of AEP. If rates

If my bill goes up, I prefer it be because AEP is investing in building

Along with most are opposed to AEP's plan to increase customer charge. Why would I, or anyone, want to pay for energy we may not even be using. AEP is a huge company that really should encourage customers to be more energy efficient not just make a flat rate charge as if they don't care. Care more about your customers.

Regarding Case Number 13-2385-ESP

Even though public utilities have been granted monopolies by the government, necessary as it may be, they should not be allowed to shy away from the fundamental bottom line of capitalism. The individual company that offers the best price receives the customers. AEP should be seeking to reduce the cost to its customers, trapped as they are, instead of increasing the cost. AEP should be joining the groups in investing in renewable energies, instead of maintaining the status quo that are finite fossil fuels. AEP should not be punishing all of its trapped customers with fees for no additional services, a practice that would not be allowed in a <sup>free market</sup> ~~equilibrium~~ market. They should be joining those in seeking reduced costs in renewable energies, the future. I believe that AEP should not be allowed to increase its customer charge because they want to keep the status quo and not advance as a company in the free market would be forced to.

To Whom It May Concern,

As a regulator of public utilities and a regulator that has "public" in its name, you need to show concern for the public in your regulatory position. AEP has no concern when it wants to raise its customer service charge, and when it is not actively increasing its renewable energy and energy efficiency programs. It seems like AEP does not have any concern for its customers, the environment, the earth, etc.

In your position as regulators, can you bring your conscience to the level of all customers? Can you pave the way for caring for the environment and the earth? You have the power and responsibility to regulate, so let it be in a way that is beneficial to the customer and the environment/earth.

This is not fair to add a set hidden increase to our monthly bill just because AEP is trying to cove their costs. It is time to hold AEP and energy providers accountable for renewable energy. We know that it can be provided effectively with the technology advancements we have in place. By allowing companies like AEP to continue to raise costs to justify their archaic energy practices you are impacting not only human lives but the future stability of the world itself. If AEP was increasing my cost by 25% to reduce coal dependency and transition to solar or hydro plants, I would support that. I will NOT support the continued abuse of depleting energy sources just so executives can have more money today. THIS HAS TO STOP.

It is time to enforce energy providers to increase renewable energy. This is the 2016, we have advanced to a point with our technology and understanding of our planet that we must focus on new ways to provide energy. We cannot empower greedy energy providers to skirt their need to invest in renewable energy. Please hold these people accountable!

Dear Sir or Madam,

In regard to AEP Case #13-2385-ESP, please don't allow AEP to increase customer rates for power bills threefold. While I can't say I am fully informed on this current issue, I am opposed to the use of coal and oil for power, and to a lesser extent, natural gas. AEP should be increasing its renewable energy and energy efficiency programs rather than penalizing customers for cutting back on their usage.

Additionally, I am against unnecessary costs for basic services, especially one which, arguably, should be free, and definitely not monopolized.

I would also like to inform you of the Kuleshov riots in Soviet Russia in 1918. In said riots, workers in the communist union began to riot because the prices for their heat were sent up more than 300%. The vicious and ebullient riot caused the deaths of many Soviet troops. As a result, the Soviets used rabid dogs, starved for three days, and a liquefied mustard gas in hoses to dissuade the riot, resulting in many gruesome deaths and cases of mauling. The mauled citizens were then executed in the street either by pistol or neck-snapping. It is still debated among historians today.
