Re: Case number 13-2385-ESP

I recently came across some satellite maps showing the air pollution areas world wide. It identified lots of areas in China which have high levels of air pollution and supprisingly in North America it showed Ohio River Valley contains the highest level of pollution in U.S.A., not Los Angeles as I previously thought. As a resident of Ohio, I am deeply concerned.

I would like to see AEP increase their renewable energy and energy efficiency programs. Ohio should reduce using coal as a main electric generating source. There is so much unutilized wind energy in the region. Our goverment should adopt and promote more wind generated energy solutions.

Secondly, AEP should be encouraging energy efficiency, not punishing customers who reduce their ussge.

Sincerely,

Fred Weinmann
