COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

I have lived in Euclid, OH my entire life and have naturally developed a great affinity for the Great Lakes Region and its many important economic and environmental windfalls. I am in firm support of the Icebreaker windfarm, as I believe that it will serve the best interests of Cleveland area residents and corporations in the long-term. Moreover, as our global society moves away from carbon-based energy resources, this project stands as an excellent opportunity to showcase Midwestern development and establish Cleveland as a national leader in sustainable initiatives. The windfarm will not be close enough to shore so as to become an eyesore & will have minimal impacts on wildlife so long as appropriate siting considerations are taken into account. This is a chance for the city of Cleveland & Ohio as a whole to take a big step into the economy of the future and provide a model for other coastal regions to follow suit.

Please make this happen!
