COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

The Duke pipeline is one of the most controversial pipeline applications you have received in the last decade. And yet not a single member felt it was important enough to show up to the public hearing? Don't you even want to create the illusion that you are actually considering this as a application? What is this board for (other than collecting the 65 thousand dollar application fee and checking some legal rules that any paralegal could do) if isn't to critically review the request and weigh the risks and benefits? Why not just cut thru all the crap and tell people that the board has NEVER denied an application and never will and that you all don't really do anything except collect the money, check the boxes for the rules even when Duke doesn't meet them {case in point; not notifying property owners in writing 7 days before the "public hearing"}, and then meet your Duke buddies at the country club to celebrate? You should all be ashamed of yourselves to call this club a Siting Board. Wonder why people don't trust their political representatives ??? YOU ARE EXACTLY WHY.
