COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

Regarding the proposed hike by Duke Energy in the fixed rate customers in the Cincinnati area would pay, I want to say it is just wrong. My wife and I have worked to reduce our energy costs by adding insulation and other sealants where practical. We also keep our thermostat relatively low in the Winter (never over 71° Fahrenheit) and high in the Summer (never under 77° Fahrenheit). I am now retired, and we are on more of a fixed income than we have ever been. It makes no sense to increase our fixed rate for utilities only to see us subsidize those who have much larger homes and/or those who do not conserve. With the predicted growth rate the economy is supposed to have (according to the President) with the Republican tax plan plus the reduced rate for corporate taxes the same entails, Duke Energy should already be looking at a bright future. If anything, they should be lowering the current fixed rate.

Concerning the proposed increase in the base fee that Duke Energy is seeking. I would like to request that this does not happen. My utilities are already taking a toll on my fixed income and an increase in my bill would only make my situation more dire. So please take this into consideration, not only for myself but many others who are in my same situation, and do not seek this increase. Thanks

This comment pertains to Case: 17-0032-EL-AIR I am opposed to the proposed rate increase. The impact on increase to the base fixed fee will impact low income populations and those that are living month to month on fixed incomes. In addition, the proposal to increase fixed fees discourages users from conserving energy. The rate increase should be denied. Respectfully, Stefan Spinosa

COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

I am writing to urge you to DENY Duke Energy's request for fixed electricity fee hikes in the near future. It is well known that Duke is in no way in need of such hikes; rather it is their tactic by which they hope to continue to keep themselves awash in profits and to keep paying their top-tier executives millions of dollars in salary at the expense, literally, of those of us who can least afford it. Fixed fees take away the little control we on fixed incomes have over our monthly bills while we are the ones who need as much ability to do so as possible. Please do the right thing and deny their request!

COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

I have recently read that the Ohio Energy Commission is intending to increase our electric rates by an extravagant amount. If, I, as a customer cannot afford to pay such an increase, how can I have gas and electric in my home at a rate I can afford? Please DO NOT increase the amount that I pay (approx. $150 a month).

COMMENT DESCRIPTION:

I am writing to express my strenuous objection to Duke Energy's plan to substantially increase its fixed customer charge. I am recently retired and such an increase would be a hardship for me and many other retirees as well as many families who are currently struggling to make ends meet. This increase would also more than negate the savings realized from my own efforts to reduce my energy consumption. A near quadruple increase in the customer charge is unreasonable and unwarranted. Such an increase in my bill should be the result of a conscious decision on my part to increase my energy usage, and not due to a blatant attempt by the utility to inflate its profits. I strongly encourage you to reject the Duke request. Thank you.
