To all whom it concerns,

We, the Greenhouse Club of Heidelberg University, support the development of green energy in both Seneca and its surrounding counties. We believe that pursuing renewable energy is in the best interest of all, and believe that both Apex and Republic wind will provide ecological, educational, and economic support for the current and future residents of Ohio. Additionally, as members of an educational institution, we believe that the presence of wind energy is a valuable learning tool for both residents and students within the area. Hopefully, these developments will provide expanded access to, and knowledge of, clean energy.

The development of, and investment in, local wind energy will provide residents with an exceptional opportunity to interact with and observe both a revolutionary and necessary new technology. These perks are supplemented by the fact that Ohio residents will be able to reap the benefits of cheap, efficient, and conscious energy.

With great expectations,

The Heidelberg University Greenhouse Club
