Matt,

sPower has made a addendum to increase the size the size of the turbine and has resubmitted an incorrect eagle nest data that was inadvertently left out of the first application. We have witness more than three eagle nest inside of the footprint of the project and in one case we have two turbines within 3/4 of a mile of one nest. I am concerned to the fact that they can fill an addendum to make these additions to the project without having to resubmit the permit. I feel it is unfair to the people that will be impact in the project and proves another lies to the farms that have least their land that want out of the project. If sPower is allowed to change their minds so should the land owners. Any farmer/land owner whose contract are up for renewal should be let out of his or her lease agreement. If the wind companies are allowed to change their minds to the project so should we.

Thank You
