Following her years as a teacher, Roberta worked the family farm.

Roberta married her high school sweetheart Robert A. Gray in 1955. Together they raised their three children on their family farm (Grayland Farms) and have passed that legacy to their children. Roberta took great pride in the appearance of her home and could always be found outside working in her yard and gardens. Roberta was an active member of the Fitchville United Methodist Church. She was also a former Girl Scout adviser

Notice of Public Information Meeting for Proposed Utility Facility

Firelands Wind, LLC ("Firelands"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Apex Clean Energy Holdings, LLC, scheduled a public informational meeting on November 15, 2018 to outline plans to build a wind-powered generation facility located in Huron, Erie, and Seneca Counties, Ohio (the "Emerson Creek Project"). The Emerson Creek Project will include associated infrastructure such as access roads, an electrical collector system, and an operations and maintenance facility. The wind turbines will generate clean, emissions-free electricity that qualifies as a renewable energy source in Ohio. Construction of the Emerson Creek Project is estimated to begin in the first quarter of 2020, resulting in commercial operations in the fourth quarter of 2020.

The public is invited to learn about the project schedule, design, construction, and environmental information for the proposed Emerson Creek Project at the public information meeting that will take place from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. on Thursday, November 15, 2018 at the Bronson-Norwalk Conservation League, 295 Town Line Rd 151, Norwalk, Ohio 44857. Information addressing the Facility will be available and Company representatives will be available to respond to inquiries.

Fisher-Titus Home Health a top agency

Fisher-Titus has been named one of the nation’s places for home health care for the sixth year in a row.

The Fisher-Titus Home Health Center has been named a Top Agency of the 2018 HomeCare Elite, a recognition of the top-performing home health agencies in the United States. This marks the sixth time Fisher-Titus Home Health has been recognized as a top agency in addition to being named a Top 500 Agency in 2006.

For 13 years, HomeCare Elite has annually identified the top 25 percent of Medicare-certified agencies and highlighted the top 100 and top 500 agencies overall. The ranking is developed by ABILITY Network, a leading information technology company helping providers and payers simplify the administrative and clinical complexities of healthcare. It is sponsored by DecisionHealth, publisher of “Home Health Line and the Complete Home Health ICD-10-CM Diagnosis Coding Manual.”

“I would like to congratulate the team at the Fisher-Titus Home Health Center and thank them for their commitment to providing consistently high-quality care,” said Christine Lang, senior director for ABILITY Network.

“During a time of increasing demands on home health professionals’ time and attention, these caregivers and leaders have demonstrated that they have prioritized their patients and created a solid foundation for serving their communities and partnering with other healthcare providers.”

Debbi Cullen, director of Fisher-Titus Home Health, credits teamwork and collaboration for the agency’s ability to achieve recognition as one of the HomeCare Elite.

“The Fisher-Titus Home Health team is dedicated to providing outstanding care to patients in managing their health situations,”

Cullen said. “They have demonstrated that working together to provide quality care has helped Fisher-Titus once again be named to the HomeCare Elite.”

HomeCare Elite agencies are determined by an analysis across an array of performance measures in quality outcomes, best practices implementation, patient experience (HHCAHPS), quality improvement and consistency, and financial health. To be considered, an agency must be Medicare-certified and have data for at least three outcome measures in Home Health Compare - a program created by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) to provide the public with information about the quality of care provided by Medicare-certified home health agencies. This year, 8,898 home health agencies were considered, resulting in Elite recognition for 2,223.

“Congratulations to Fisher-Titus Home Health from all of the staff at DecisionHealth,” said Marci Geipe, DecisionHealth product manager.

“Your leadership and staff have placed a premium on the patient care your agency provides as showcased by your quality outcome scores. The entire community benefits from the compassion that your staff shows toward your patients, leading to cost savings for the entire health care system.”

World Stroke Day is today

Here are signs, symptoms and how to cope

By RENEE LEBER
Special to the Reflector

Did you know one in six of us will experience a stroke during our lifetime? The American Heart/Stroke Association reports that someone in the U.S. suffers a stroke every 40 minutes and nearly 795,000 people suffer new or recurrent strokes each year.

Stroke is a “heart attack” of the brain. This “brain attack” happens when the blood supply to a part of the brain is either blocked by a clot (ischemic) or a bleed (hemorrhagic). Depending on the severity of the stroke and how long blood flow to the brain is interrupted, a stroke can cause temporary or permanent disability, and in extreme cases even death.

In fact, according to the World Stroke Association, some 80 million people living in the world today have experienced a stroke and more than 50 million survivors live with some form of permanent disability as the result of a stroke.

A key to limiting the degree of disabilities from a stroke is to get treatment FAST. The sooner the signs of stroke are recognized and help is received, the better the chance for the victim’s recovery.

The four letters (F.A.S.T) are key to spotting a stroke:

FACE DROOPING — Does one side of the face droop or is it numb? Ask the person to smile. Is the person’s smile uneven?

ARM WEAKNESS — Is

one arm weak or numb? Ask the person to raise both arms. Does one arm drift downward?

SPEECH DIFFICULTY — Is speech slurred? Is the person unable to speak or hard to understand? Ask the person to repeat a simple sentence, like “The sky is blue.” Is the sentence repeated correctly?

TIME TO CALL 9-1-1 — If someone shows any of these symptoms, even if the symptoms go away, call 9-1-1 and get the person to the hospital.

But what if the worst happens?

The severity of stroke complications and each person’s ability to recover vary widely. Along with the quickness of treatment, rehabilitation is key to helping a patient regain independence and improve quality of life after stroke. Researchers have found that people who participate in a focused stroke rehabilitation program perform better than most people who don’t have stroke rehabilitation.

There are many approaches to stroke rehabilitation since patients are impacted differently by stroke. A patient’s rehabilitation plan will depend on the part of the body or type of ability affected by the stroke. The goal of stroke rehabilitation is to help the stroke survivor to relearn skills that may have been lost by the stroke’s effect on the brain. We treat many stroke patients in our rehabilitation center.

In addition, recent scientific studies have validated the importance of social support in stroke recovery. Social interaction and simply feeling connected to others helps ease depression and isolation so common to stroke victims. Fisher-Titus offers a quarterly support group for stroke patients and their families. You can call 419-663-1975 extension 3093 for more information.

Fisher-Titus Medical Center has been designated as a Primary Stroke Center since 2007. This year it was also recognized with the American Heart/American Stroke Association’s Get With The Guidelines-Stroke Silver Plus Quality Achievement Award and Target: Stroke SM Award.

Linnea Lodermeier is a certified speech-language pathologist who treats patients at the Walcher Rehabilitation Center at Fisher-Titus. She specializes in the treatments of adult patients. Linnea also coordinates the Fisher-Titus Stroke Support Group.

Health briefs

Breastfeeding basics

SANDUSKY — Firelands Regional Medical Center is offering a breastfeeding basics education class from 9:30 a.m. to noon Nov. 17.

The class will be held at the Firelands Regional Medical Center south campus, 1912 Hayes Ave. It is designed to teach new parents the benefits of breastfeeding and how to successfully breastfeed their baby.

According to the Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, some studies suggest breastfeeding may reduce the risk for certain allergic diseases, asthma, obesity, and type 2 diabetes. It may also help improve an infant’s cognitive development. Further studies are ongoing.

For costs, registration and more information, visit firelands.com.

‘Stop the Bleed’ class

SANDUSKY — In the event of an emergency, a person who is bleeding can die from blood loss in less than five minutes.

In an effort to encourage and educate bystanders to become trained, equipped, and empowered to help in a bleeding emergency, Firelands Regional Medical Center is providing a “Stop the Bleed” class from 1 to 2 p.m. Nov. 14 in the education room at the south campus, 1912 Hayes Ave.

“Participants learn not only how and where to apply a tourniquet, but also gets hands on practice packing and applying pressure to open wounds on a manikin,” said Marisa Munafò, education specialist at Firelands.
