Case No. 18-0488-EL-BGN

Motion to Intervene of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation

The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation (“OFBF”) pursuant to Section 4906-2-12 of the Ohio Administrative Code (“OAC”) moves to intervene in the above docket as a full party of record. As set forth in the accompanying memorandum in support, OFBF has a real and substantial interest in this matter that is not represented by existing parties. OFBF’s involvement will contribute to a just and expeditious resolution of the issues involved in the proceeding and will not unduly delay the proceedings or unjustly prejudice an existing party.

Memorandum in Support of Motion to Intervene of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation

Pursuant to Section 4906-2-12 of the OAC, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation (“OFBF”) moves to intervene in this proceeding as a full party of record.

Rule 4906-2-12(B) of the OAC states:

(B) The board or the administrative law judge shall grant petitions for leave to intervene only upon a showing of good cause.

(1) In deciding whether to permit intervention under this paragraph, the board or the administrative law judge may consider:

- (a) The nature and extent of the person’s interest.
- (b) The extent to which the person’s interest is represented by existing parties.
- (c) The person’s potential contribution to a just and expeditious resolution of the issues involved in the proceeding.
- (d) Whether granting the requested intervention would unduly delay the proceeding or unjustly prejudice an existing party.

I. OFBF has a real and substantial interest in this matter that is not represented by existing parties.

OFBF maintains a non-profit organization representing agricultural interests at the state and local levels with member families in every county, including hundreds of families in Seneca and Sandusky Counties.

Many Farm Bureau members are involved in farming and agribusiness activities, including food processing, commodity processing/conditioning/handling, biofuel production, and greenhouse operations. Some members are involved in larger scale industries and manufacturing, while others have small business enterprises, such as restaurants, cleaners, and other services. All are residential energy consumers.

Farm Bureau members support a diversified energy portfolio, including renewable energy sources such as effective wind energy development. Farmers engaged in wind leasing agreements want to make sure that construction activities on their property adhere to procedures ensuring soil and water conservation as well as air quality. Residents in rural neighborhoods want assurances that environmental considerations, such as setbacks, noise standards, shadow flicker, and other factors, are addressed with effective turbine placement. Area businesses want to make sure that a wind facility in the community enhances local commerce and economic development. In short, OFBF has extensive experience gathering input, addressing the needs of, and representing farm, small business, and rural residents concerning energy development.

OFBF does not intervene in this proceeding in support or opposition to the project at hand. Rather, OFBF's concerns lie in ensuring that if a project of this nature goes forward, landowners and their land are protected and have appropriate recourse for needed repairs or remediation. OFBF's interest in this case is guided by policy resolutions from Ohio Farm Bureau Federation's 2018 State Policies. OFBF employs an extensive grassroots policy development process which involves individual members, county Farm Bureau leaders, government officials, and businesses and community stakeholders. The policy positions which are ultimately approved at OFBF's annual meeting by elected delegates from each County Farm Bureau reflect extensive local input, need, experience, and concern. These policies become the basis for action plans at local and state levels, often involving collaborative efforts over many years to address important issues. Annual evaluation of policy ensures that Farm Bureau's state and local efforts remain on target. Many of the policies appearing in OFBF's 2018 State Policies have been developed and honed over many years. This thorough process ensures that OFBF's policy positions are well thought-out, developed, researched, and reflective of our members' needs and concerns. This perspective cannot be provided by another existing party.

II. OFBF's involvement will contribute to a just and expeditious resolution of the issues involved in the proceeding and will not unduly delay the proceedings or unjustly prejudice an existing party.

On the state level, OFBF has worked with utilities, energy service providers, the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, other government agencies, and interested citizens groups to explore strategies and introduce new technologies to help consumers and communities control energy costs. Some of this work spans several decades. OFBF continues to help citizens and local leaders in several areas of the state create working groups to discuss and address wind energy development issues and concerns. Again, OFBF utilizes its extensive policy development process to generate stakeholder dialogue that includes numerous groups with varied interests and concerns. In particular, OFBF's interests lie in ensuring appropriate consideration of drainage infrastructure, soil conservation, and best practices for remediation on agricultural land.

OFBF fully understands and appreciates the rules and regulations governing the Ohio Power Siting Board evaluation process. OFBF will continue to share its experiences and unique perspective with the Ohio Power Siting Board as it works with others to evaluate this Application. OFBF's timely intervention and participation in this process will not cause undue delay, will not unjustly prejudice any existing party, and will contribute to the just and quick resolution of issues and concerns raised.

Given the diverse, yet unique, interests of its members, its experience with energy development issues and support for collaboration, the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation submits that good cause exists to grant it leave to intervene in this proceeding.

III. Conclusion

For the reasons set forth above, the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation requests that its motion to intervene be granted and that it be made a full party of record.
