Due to the large cooperate tax cut recently passed by the president should not require vectren to increase their rates. Poor financial decisions by the company should not be a burden on its customers or an alternative should be offered to lower rates. In perspective if the tax cut gets overturned then the rate increase would have to double or triple the current amount which does not seem appropriate. Our utility companies won't ya to completely ignore the fact they received huge savings. No rate increase until taxes are reversed or for a three year period. They should be ashamed for asking. Any conversation about how this was already calculated on previous rates is pure hog wash.
