Man linked to 4 killings believed to be in US illegally

By Michelle L. Price and Ken Ritter
The Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — A man suspected of being in the U.S. illegally shot and killed four people in Nevada over the past few weeks, including an elderly Reno couple, authorities said, and the slayings added fuel to the immigration debate. Wilbur Martinez-Guzman, 20, from El Salvador, has been jailed in Carson City, Nevada, since

Martinez-Guzman expect to file murder charges against him in the shooting deaths of the couple and two women in the nearby town of Gardnerville. Carson City Sheriff Ken Furlong said that federal immigration authorities told his office that Martinez-Guzman was in the country illegally. Immigration and Customs Enforcement did not have details on his entry into the U.S. The investigation is ongoing, the sheriff said, and it was too early to comment on a possible motive. Martinez-Guzman did not yet have an attorney who could comment on his behalf, Furlong said. President Donald Trump seized on the killings as evidence of the need for his proposed U.S.-Mexico border wall. “Four people in Nevada viciously robbed and killed by an illegal immigrant who should not have been in our Country,” Trump said Monday in a tweet. “We need a powerful Wall!” The killings are the latest crimes Trump has cited to bring attention to the wall. Trump tweeted last month about allegations that a man from Mexico who was living in the U.S. illegally fatally shot a California police officer. In Nevada, Connie Koontz, 56, was found dead Jan. 10 in her home. Three days later, 74-year-old Sophia Renken was found dead in her home about a mile from where Koontz lived, authorities said. Last Wednesday, the bodies of 81-year-old Gerald David and his 80-year-old wife, Sharon, were found in their home on the southern edge of Reno.

four that he appeared in. How? He chnged to a larger racket head, began using a flat backhand more often and invented a new way of challenging opponents' second serves. So count on Federer to come up with something else. As it is, he declared that he'll return to the clay-court circuit this year and participate in the French Open for the first time since 2015. After all, he's healthy. So why not? Maybe he won't win the title there, but it could help him prepare for Wimbledon.

ROUNDUP

Northridge downs Green Wave

Zion Carpenter led a balanced effort with 14 points Tuesday as host Northridge stopped Newark Catholic 47-42 in the Licking County League-Cardinal Division. Kody Everts added 12 points and Jackson Wilson tossed in 11 for the Vikings (6-7, 4-3). Dow Jones scored 10 and Granger Evans eight for the Green Wave (4-9, 2-5).

Hornets stave off Valley

Visiting Licking Heights outscored Licking Valley 12-5 in the third quarter Tuesday, then held off the Panthers for a 44-42 LCL-Buckeye Division victory. Tyrese Hughey registered a double double with 10 points and 19 rebounds for the Hornets (6-8, 4-4). Josh Osei added 12 points. Chase Whisner and Carson Conley scored 12 points apiece and Blake Nethers added 11 for Valley (6-5, 5-2).

DeSales beats Granville

Cameron Crouch cashed in 18

points Tuesday, but it wasn't enough as host DeSales (10-4) shot from a 33-33 halftime tie to a 61-53 non-league win against Granville. Jake Stone added 12 points for the Blue Aces (9-3).

Watkins wins again

Marcus Peaks poured in 19 points and grabbed 15 rebounds Tuesday, leading Watkins Memorial to a 43-40 LCL-Buckeye Division win against visiting Lakewood. Ethan Stearns added nine points and three steals for the Warriors (4-11, 4-3), while Reece McNeely added six assists and three steals. Jacob Coffey tallied 15 and Zaven Boland 10 for the Lancers (3-9, 1-6).

Johnnies roll on road

Owen Hazelbaker popped in 17 points Tuesday in visiting Johnstown's 60-43 LCL-Cardinal Division win against Utica. Jake Lusk added 11 points for the Johnnies (10-2, 6-1). Dakota Woodward's 19 points and 11 by Mason Mueller powered the Redskins (2-11, 0-7).

Carney sparks Heath

Josh Carney rifled in five 3-pointers Tuesday and scored 23 points, sparking host Heath to a 64-43 non-league win against Shekinah Christian (5-8). Brandon McLaughlin added 16 points for the Bulldogs (6-8).

Liberty rolls

Delavontae Jackson scored 25 points in Liberty Christian's 58-22 victory against Licking County Christian. Kenton Gould added 10 points for Liberty. Garrett Plessinger led LCCA with eight.

GIRLS BASKETBALL Sharps leads Newark

Morgan Sharps drilled five 3-pointers among her 19 points Tuesday as visiting Newark romped past Lancaster (7-10) 63-36 in non-league play. Abby Derwacter added 10 points and Katie Shumate chipped in with nine points, six rebounds and five assists for the Wildcats (16-1).

Good cases can also be made for the other inductees, who all have one stat or another that signify greatness. But at the same time baseball purists have to wonder just what defines a Hall of Famer anymore. The case of Baines is exhibit A among those who argue for a less inclusive hall. Baines played 22 years in the bigs, mostly as a designated hitter, but never reached the 3,000-hit mark that so often defines Hall of Fame players. More tellingly, he never finished in the top eight vote getters for MVP consideration any year he played. Baines is as marginal as it gets, and Mike Mussina's credentials were questioned by some, too, though his 270 career wins are tied for 33rd with Burleigh Grimes on the all-time list. The trend today seems to be to add players in bunches. And that's not necessarily a good thing for a hall that was once reserved for only the best. Baines' place in the hall can be debated, as can a plaque for any player not named Ruth, DiMaggio or Koufax. And it will be debated, because baseball's Hall of Fame remains the gold standard for all sports and baseball fans love to argue about who should be in it. Still, six players this year, six last. In last three years, 15 players have made the Hall of Fame, bringing the total to 234 former major league players, and 331 members overall. It may not be too many, but it's becoming too much. And it shows no signs of slowing down, even with a lack of star power in upcoming classes (Derek Jeter will almost surely be the only new player elected next year). That's partly due to the influence of advanced stats that can be used to promote candidacies, along with an influx of voters from a younger generation of BBWAA members. We saw that with Martinez, who was the beneficiary of an election campaign that got him in on his last year of eligibility. It's also partly due to voters loading up their ballots. The ballot allows for 10 votes and the average number of players named on early public ballots was 8.7. You can't tell me there were 10 players deserving of the Hall of Fame this year or any other. I personally voted for six, and thought that was high.
