Subject: Breaking Wind

Att: Chairman Randazzo

Sam,

They say repetition is the mother of retention because it helps us learn.

“I strongly support the Lake Erie Energy Developmen Corporations (LEEDCO) application to the Power Siting Board (OPSB) to build the Ice Breaker Wind project: a 6-turbine....”

I imagine you and your colleagues know the preceding sentence by heart and have learned that a bunch of people are supportive enough of Breaking Wind to sign onto a form letter on its behalf.

Yes the pun stinks, so to speak, but nevertheless gets at a serious characteristic that has accompanied this project and basically all the government influence that has pushed, shoved and bullied the notion that the grid that has served this nation through hell and high water has been made obsolete by a volumetricly insignificant constituent of our atmosphere, CO2. It doesn't pass the smell test!

The book “Silent Spring” started all this green agitation and none of its predictions materialized and in fact its phony condemnation of DDT led to millions of third world deaths from mosquito borne malaria.

You and the board can stop the rush to more expensive controversial infrastructure construction at the waters edge. Lake Erie's edge.

If it ain't broke don't fix it. All the terrible climate stuff has always been in a future that starting in the 1970's has yet to materialize. There is enough renewable construction in place to turn the whole thing over to the free enterprise system.

Sam when the dust settles let's hope the sweet smell of the untrammeled breezes of Lake Erie are in the wind.

Thank you,
Jack Joyce
