Exhibit B-3 Disclosure of Liabilities and Investigations

We are involved in a number of judicial and arbitration proceedings concerning matters arising in the ordinary course of our business. We and/or our personnel also from time to time are involved in investigations by various regulatory or legal authorities concerning matters arising in the course of our business around the world. We do not expect that any of these matters individually or in the aggregate, will have a material impact on our results of operations or financial condition.

Like other companies of its nature and size, Accenture LLP is from time to time subject to audits, inquiries and information requests from the government. Accenture emphasizes that the number of such situations in which it has been involved is very small in relation to its total number of clients and the ultimate outcome of such inquiries would have no adverse effect on Accenture LLP's capacity to provide the services it is licensed to perform in Ohio. We refer the Ohio Public Utility Commission to the Accenture plc (the parent company of Accenture LLP) 10-K forms, filed with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission over the past five years for information on material matters. SEC Filings of Accenture plc are also available in the Investor Relations section of Accenture's web site, www.accenture.com.

Also, Accenture LLP does not have any existing, pending or past rulings, judgments, contingent liabilities, revocations of authority, regulatory investigations, or any other matter in relation to its Energy Broker/Aggregator services.
